

'Race Against Time' for Buried Couple

BRALORNE, B.C. (CP) — A desperate battle against time is being fought here today in an effort to save the lives of a man and wife buried in a giant avalanche 200 yards long and 50 feet wide.

Believed trapped under the massive snow avalanche in McGillivray Pass, 15 miles southeast of Bralorne and 110 miles north of Vancouver, are immigrants Helmut Weinhold, 31, and his wife Crista, 26.

They were reported first as German immigrants but police said today they came from the alpine country in Austria. Their hometown in Europe was not immediately available.

Their tracks were found leading into the avalanche Tuesday afternoon.

RCMP officials here said it is possible the couple may be alive. They said trapped persons have survived eight days in an avalanche.

The couple may be lying huddled in an air pocket unable to move because of hundreds of tons of snow pressing on them from above.

"Conditions at the site of the avalanche are very poor," an RCMP officer said. "We are racing against time to get equipment and supplies to the rescue parties."

"During the day it is thawing at the 6,900-

foot level where the avalanche occurred," the officer said. "The heat makes the danger of further slides too great. We cannot risk losing lives."

Searchers are able to travel about 11 miles by a wide-tired jeep to the scene and then must cover the remaining four miles on skis or snowshoes.

Weinhold, a miner in the Pioneer mine, and his wife, a nurse in Bralorne hospital, owned a cabin in the area and left it to inspect the snow conditions in the pass.

When they didn't return to the cabin by 3 p.m. a friend there decided to search for them.

The friend, identified only as Hugo, entered the pass and saw the avalanche but no trace of the tracks leaving it.

He skied back to the cabin and advised Bralorne RCMP who immediately launched a search.

Police said the Weinholds were warned of the snow condition and were advised to get off their skis. It is believed they were on foot when the avalanche hit them.

The couple are experienced skiers.

Police said the couple was planning to build a commercial ski resort close to the location of their cabin.

Ike 'Inches Forward' To Summit

By The Associated Press

Britain sees a clear track ahead to the summit, but the United States and France still are saying that preliminary sessions must prove a get-together with Nikita Khrushchev would be worthwhile.

This became apparent today in statements of the three Western chiefs who would confer with Khrushchev.

President Eisenhower spoke out against any efforts at "blackmail," indicating he still feels a preliminary session of big power foreign ministers must make a summit session inviting.

NEED TOP-LEVEL MEET

But he also said at Washington press conference he believes only a meeting with Khrushchev can bring about any sort of valid agreement on the key question of Germany.

To that extent he apparently inched forward from his past insistence that preliminary progress in a foreign ministers meeting is a pre-requisite for a summit session on the German problem.

In London, Prime Minister Macmillan, just back from talks in Ottawa and Washington, indicated the summit meeting will come regardless of the outcome of foreign ministers' negotiations.

"Everybody seems to think that there will be one," Macmillan told the House of Commons.

READY FOR MEETING

At Paris, President de Gaulle said he agrees that preliminary steps must be examined thoroughly at a foreign ministers' meeting, but that he is ready for the summit meeting if conditions are right.

All three Western leaders spoke somewhat warily so as not to transgress diplomatic protocol. Britain, the United States and France are delivering notes to Moscow Thursday on the subject of East-West meetings, and none of the capitals wanted to anticipate these notes in too much detail.

The notes are believed to call for a foreign ministers' session May 11—a date Khrushchev already has accepted. Presumably the summit meeting will be in July.

BOATS ARE BUSTING OUT ALL OVER

'Hurry-Up' on Project Boosted Power Costs

By HAL MALONE

Lack of lead time—the period available between inception of a project and construction—was the main reason the B.C. Power Commission's mammoth Strathcona project cost $16,000,000 more than first estimates of $19,000,000.

Even at a final cost of $35,000,000 the end results clearly vindicate the original decision to proceed. Cost of energy produced by the Campbell River system—Strathcona, John Hart and Ladore Falls—will be 3.8 mills per kilowatt hour in an average water year.

No substitute development could be considered.

Any errors of judgment by the power commission did not contribute to the over-expenditure.

The same funds would have been needed, regardless of what estimated figures had been put forward.

These were the main points of a brief on the Strathcona project, presented to the Shrum Royal Commission today by R. C. McMordie, acting chief engineer for the power commission.

In an 88-page brief, plus appendices, Mr. McMordie explained in minute detail reasons for the over-expenditure. Strathcona is the largest of 20 projects where power commission estimates were exceeded. It is the main project the Shrum Royal Commission, set up by Premier Bennett, is investigating.

'BASIC SOURCE'

Throughout his submission, Mr. McMordie stressed "lead time" was the basic source of cost discrepancies at Strathcona.

Repeatedly he claimed the power commission "had no control over the circumstances which curtailed lead time"—time needed:

1. To carry out preliminary investigations.
2. To determine quantities with reasonable accuracy, and
3. To anticipate "inevitable modifications" in design as more extensive data was gathered.

"The Strathcona development had been visualized since 1945, in one form or another, as the final project to complete the utilization of power resources of the Campbell River system. It had held a place in the schedule of construction to meet load growth, downstream plant efficiency depended on it; no substitute development could be considered."

"The Strathcona project spanned seven years." Initiated in 1951, it wasn't commenced until 1953 due to exhaustive public enquiries and hearings. The generating station was completed in 1958, officially dedicated last fall.

The delays brought about by public outcries in the press, by conservationists who feared raising Butte Lake would end its usefulness as a sportsman's paradise, by the threat of injunctions, prevented "even development of the general form of development, let alone detailed investigations."

"For these reasons," said

Payment to Nfld.

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government proposes to pay Newfoundland $32,500,000 between now and March 31, 1962, under the province's terms of union with Canada, Prime Minister Diefenbaker announced today in the Com-

Unions 'Put in Place' If Smallwood Ever PM

(See Page 16)

TORONTO (CP) — The Telegram in a St. John's, Nfld., dispatch, quotes Premier Smallwood of Newfoundland as saying he will "stop at nothing" to banish the International Woodworkers of America (IWA).

The newspaper also quotes Mr. Smallwood as saying in an interview:

"If I ever run for prime minister of Canada I will have only one plank. And that will be that labor unions be put in their proper place within the community—that is not to dominate the community and Canada."

The premier said he felt he would lose his office when he intervened in February in the bitter struggle between the striking IWA and the Anglo-

Newfoundland Development

Company.

He said he was convinced that his speech in the legislature condemning the IWA would send him "out into the wilderness" but he "received a pleasant shock." He is also quoted as saying: "We will maintain law and order that will destroy the IWA. The IWA has only one thing—violence and gangsterism."

BANK INTEREST RATE CLIMBS TO NEW PEAK

OTTAWA (CP) — The Bank of Canada's interest rate climbed this week to a record 4.55 per cent, compared with 4.47 a week ago.

This second consecutive weekly rise, following two consecutive minor declines, places the rate 3.43 per cent above the all-time low of 1.12 last Aug. 2.

TIBET RULER UNREPORTED

Revolt Spreads To Outer Areas

KALIMPONG, Indian-Tibetan Frontier (UPI) — The Chinese Communists have crushed an uprising in the Tibetan capital of Lhasa but fighting is raging more fiercely than ever in other parts of the Himalayan kingdom, it was reported here today.

The Indian government political agent at Gangtok, Sikkim, told a 26-member Tibetan delegation today there had been no fighting in Lhasa for 18 hours and that he regretted he had no information on the whereabouts of the Dalai Lama, Tibet's spiritual and temporal ruler.

Tibetan sources in Gangtok, about 30 miles from the Tibetan border, said the uprising had spread to other areas and that they believed it was more widespread than on March 20 when the uprising reached a peak.

(Nationalist) intelligence reports reaching Taipei said a well-armed Communist army of 50,000 men had driven the Tibetan insurgents out of Lhasa but that the fight continued elsewhere in Tibet. Formosa was studying means of aiding the anti-Communist movement.)

Three hundred Tibetan leaders gathered in Kalimpong announced they would stage a protest-march on New Delhi in anger against Prime Minister Nehru's refusal to intercede with the Chinese Communist government on behalf of the Tibetans.

'HAPPEN EVERY DAY'

Bribery Attempts All Too Common

TORONTO (CP) — Two members of Metropolitan Toronto council said today that attempts by the public to bribe civic officials were "common practice."

Reeve Marie Curtis of suburban Long Branch and city-at-large Philip Givens revealed they both had received offers of money if they used their council offices to "do favors."

Said Ald. Givens: "It happens nearly every day. They come asking for small favors—nothing involving a million dollars, and they indicate that I will be compensated."

Reeve Curtis said she thinks the bribery of elected representatives is not common in smaller communities. "I think it's the trend in larger cities," she said. "People come right to my house offering money."

They want me to disobey the law and they tell me they get away with it elsewhere.

"They think all politicians can be bought."

Both Reeve Curtis and Ald. Givens said they refused all offers made to them.

Expansion Plan Gets Go Ahead

The bottleneck in Victoria College's expansion plans broke wide open today with an announcement that it is purchasing the entire 119-acre Camp Gordon Head site.

Quick approval of the transfer, involving an undisclosed but nominal price, is expected from both federal and provincial cabinets to complete the formal takeover within a matter of weeks.

Twenty-two buildings, ranging from a large drill hall to small huts, go with the property.

The camp property will be in use by summer, providing a playing field, field hut and a gymnasium for the college's expected enrollment of 1,000 students this fall.

The camp, on Finnelly, will bring total land area under the college's control to almost 170 acres, providing sufficient campus space for all foreseeable needs.

Announcement of the deal was made by Victoria College Council following year-long negotiations with Defence

Minister G. R. Pearkes, MP for Saanich-Esquimalt.

Mr. Pearkes has declared the campsite as war surplus and recommended to the federal cabinet that it be sold to the college.

An immediate request to the provincial government for consent to the transfer, required under legislation governing Victoria College, was made by the college council.

When the deal is completed, the provincial government will hold title to the property, as it does for the present 50-acre campus. The college council will administer the property.

Welcomed by Principal, Minister

College principal Dr. Harry Hickman and Public Works Minister W. N. Chant hailed the announcement.

"It is a great satisfaction to know that the property is being acquired at a time when the college is planning to offer third and fourth-year courses this September," Dr. Hickman said.

"We're all feeling good this morning with this tremendous news," said Mr. Chant. "It will mean considerable saving to Greater Victoria families when their children can continue their studies and remain at home."

He added that the college "now can plan for the future with the full confidence of having an adequate site to meet the growing needs of future generations."

Judge J. B. Clearhue, chairman of the college council, expressed gratitude to Victoria and Saanich for withdrawing applications to purchase parts of the camp in order to allow the college to obtain the entire site.

He also thanked the Chamber of Commerce and numerous citizens who gave "energetic support" to the college's application for the land.

The purchase will not mean a move from the present campus, college officials explained. The land will be used for future developments.

The purchase price will be paid by the college from present funds. It will not affect the public campaign for building funds planned for 1960 when the college hopes to raise $1,500,000.

The subscription will be matched dollar for dollar by the provincial government and some $300,000 in Canada Council grants will be added.

Money will be used to erect a new library building, science building, heating plant and instructional gymnasium for

EMPRESS STAYS

Tea and Crumpets Better Here

TORONTO (CP) — John Fisher said today he couldn't do it. He couldn't move Victoria's vine-covered Empress Hotel to Vancouver.

He was commenting on a complaint by Victoria's publicity chief, who said Tuesday that the CTA's magazine, Canadian Tourism, had shifted the Empress to Vancouver.

George Warren was referring to an item in the magazine which listed the Hotel Association of Canada meeting-place as the Empress Hotel, Vancouver.

"It was a typographical error," Mr. Fisher said. He said the hotel association would be unlikely to meet in Vancouver because "they make better tea and crumpets in Victoria."

New Labor Law 'Problem' For Courts—Carrothers

VANCOUVER (CP) — Professor A. W. R. Carrothers of the University of British Columbia law faculty said Tuesday night the provincial governments' new Trade Union Act "leaves a great deal up to the courts" and contains some cumbersome and vague language and terms.

Prof. Carrothers made the remarks during a meeting called to stage a panel discussion on the new legislation, passed during the recent session of the legislature to forbid sympathy picketing and publishing of no-patronage lists and to make unions and employer organizations liable to suit.

Prof. Carrothers was a judge in the discussion, sponsored by the Vancouver Centre Liberal Association and attended by 500.

Last year, the government appointed Prof. Carrothers to conduct an inquiry into bargaining rights for civil servants. His report now is in the hands of the cabinet.

He said the act seems to limit picketing. "A problem is going to arise" in the liability of unions and management organization before the courts, because it is not clear whether union pension and trust funds are attachable to satisfy judgment against a union.

George A. Wilkinson, vice-president of Marwell Construction Company, said the new law "is a credit to the government."

Jack Moore, assistant to the president of the International Woodworkers of America (IWA) District 1, said the law is "designed solely to make unions ineffective."

Jim Bury, executive secretary of the B.C. Federation of Labor, said its purpose is "to limit and level out living standards of the people."

R. A. Mahoney, industrial relations consultant, said the act recognizes that "much employment has been kept out of B.C. because of the iniquitous relationship between unions and management."

LONDON—Prince Philip's champions went down to an ignominious defeat at tiddly-winks here Tuesday night despite a last-minute appeal from their royal patron to play dirty in the best tradition of the game.

Before their match with the unbeaten Cambridge University team, the eight-man Empress Club received a telegram from Philip, now touring the South Seas in the royal yacht Britannia.

"I expect the contest to be carried through in the usual thoroughly unsporting manner which befits all great tiddly-winks matches.

"I have chosen the Empress Club as my champions on this occasion because I believe they are capable of an ever dirtier game than the team who failed to win for the prince last year.

"They had better win this time or I shall see to it that their winking licence is withdrawn. Get in there and fight."

SEATTLE—"If I had $100,000, I'd still pull burglaries," a sailboat-faced youth said Tuesday as he told how he burgled more than 100 Seattle homes after throwing rocks through the windows. Walter E. Kinel, 22, told police: "I get a big thrill out of it. I like the stealth and the dark."

PIKEVILLE, Ky.—A court hearing of a coal operator's request for an injunction against striking United Mine Workers brought this exchange: Defence lawyer S. L. Burke to miner Webb Newsome, alleged victim in a picketing incident:

"About these pickets—did any of them have arms?"

Newsome: "I reckon they all had arms. But they didn't none of 'em have guns."

MONTREAL—A plain-clothes policeman is going to the ballet next week to check art for obscenity.

He'll be watching Les Ballets Africains to make sure the female dancers wear bras. Detective Lieutenant Lucien Quintal spends three or four nights a week in the clubs and cabarets in this giddy "Paris of North America."

His job is to prosecute dancers for obscene, immoral or suggestive performances.

How will he tell where art ends and suggestiveness begins? "Well, if a girl takes off her bra and doesn't move, it's hard to make a case. Some judges call that art. When she's not moving it's not suggestive."

"But when she shimmies well, that's where obscenity starts."

Mercy-Killing Ends 62 Years of Marriage

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—George Hope, 90, was held without bail today in the mercy killing of his semi-invalid wife on the day they were to be separated for the first time in their 62 years of marriage.

Investigators said Hope's wife, Ada, 89, whom he had waited on almost hand and foot for the past 10 years, was scheduled to enter a nursing home last Friday. She had told her husband she would rather not live if they had to be parted and begged him to end it all.

Russ Fleet Tracked

SEATTLE (AP)—Navy P-2V patrol bombers have a large Russian fishing fleet in the southwestern Bering Sea under constant surveillance. Rear Admiral Arnold McKeech says his planes have been tracking the Russians about two weeks.

Hope prayed all night Thursday asking for "guidance," then shot his wife as she lay sleeping. He then placed the pistol to his head but the weapon slipped from his quivering hand and the bullet crashed into the wall.

Defence attorney Albert Olenis asked that Hope be released on a writ of habeas corpus—and be permitted to sign his own bail so that he could go to live with his only living relative, a daughter, Mrs. Ralph G. Dickie, Newburyport, Mass.

HEART ALIMENT

Olenis told the court the case could soon settle itself pointing out that his elderly client had a heart ailment.

Assistant district attorney Paul Chalfin agreed. He said Hope was not able physically to stand trial and if there was a trial it could result in any type verdict, such as "temporary insanity."

Judge Ethan Allen Doty admitted he was "sympathetic" but after several hours of deliberation, he ruled that bail could not be permitted according to Pennsylvania law.

Hope did not hear these arguments. He lay, technically confined, on a hospital bed staring at the wall.

BILL 43 PROTEST

Socreds Target Of Labor Drive

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Vancouver Building Trades Council, representing some 30,000 workers, has voted to take action to oust the Social Credit government in the next British Columbia election.

At a public meeting here Tuesday night attended by 3,500 persons, the council showed its determination in a resolution urging all affiliated unions to declare a holiday next provincial election day.

The object would be to "see that all members, their families and friends vote for MLAs who pledge themselves" to work for the repeal of controversial Bill 43.

Bill 43 is B.C.'s new labor legislation which makes unions and management legal entities subject to legal suits. It also prohibits some kinds of picketing.

The council didn't commit itself to any particular opposition party, but some speakers favored CCF support in the next election. They also indicated that recommended political action would be followed by affiliates throughout B.C.

The council also voted to consider action taken by any employer under Bill 43 against any building trades union as an attack on all.

Other political action steps urged in the resolution were: 1. All affiliated unions should form committees to check voters' lists to see that their members are listed and report the results to a special committee on Bill 43.

2. The council would publicize widely the names of the members of the Legislature who voted for and against the bill.

3. Building trades unions throughout B.C. would be urged to follow the Vancouver-New Westminster lead.

4. International unions in the building trades spheres should be informed "of the seriousness of Bill 43" and asked to lend moral and financial aid.

African Negroes Form New Political Party

DAKAR, Senegal (UPI)—Negro leaders from five autonomous African states formed a political party today to push plans for a federation of French West Africa.

The territories represented at the founding of the African Federation Party (PFA) were Senegal, Niger, Dahomey, Upper Volta and French Sudan. They want to form a federation called "Mali."

The PFA is regarded as a threat to the influence of France's Minister of State Felix Houphouët-Boigny, who has been for some time the dominant figure in French West African politics.

Two recent events demonstrate the strength of pro-Mali sentiment—the landslide victory of Premier Mamadou Dia's pro-federation UPS party in Senegal's Sunday election, and the way women here snapped up more than 35 miles of dress goods bearing federation slogans when it went on sale recently.

Dia's 85 per cent majority made Leopold Senghor, UPS spokesman at the meeting which organized the PFA, a leading force in the federation movement.

SWISS RIOT FOR SATCHEMO AUTOGRAPHS

GENEVA (Reuters)—Dozens of policemen and students were injured Tuesday night in a battle of night sticks, broken chairs and jagged beer bottles following a concert by Louis Armstrong. More than 12 youths were arrested after some 2,000 students rioted following the jazz trumpeter's concert. Firemen using high-pressure hoses finally broke it up. No serious injuries were reported.

Police later released the 12 youths and said no charges would be made against them. Trouble started when the youths rushed the platform in a scramble for autographs.

education students on the present campus.

Grass streets have been seeded for a recreational playing field at the Gordon Head property. One of the huts will be converted into a field house containing lockers and showers and the drill hall will be converted into a gymnasium this year.

The remaining huts will not be used immediately but they do provide an emergency pool of temporary accommodation in the event of an enrolment crisis during the college's expected development as a branch of the University of B.C.

Present plans for the Gordon Head property envisage ultimate development of student residences, added faculty buildings, a stadium and possibly a school of medicine.

Year Ended on Strong Note

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's economy turned out to be a little stronger in 1958 than the government anticipated, with strong upward trends showing in the last three months of the year.

The Gross National Product—value of all goods and services produced—climbed to $32,200,000,000 from $31,400,000,000 in 1957, a gain of $800,000,000, instead of the $600,000,000 increase forecast by Finance Minister Fleming in his budget last June.

The bureau of statistics, in measuring the growth, said today there was a small rise in volume of less than one per cent. The remainder was attributed to higher prices.

Compared with previous years, the over-all rise of 2.5 per cent is small, contrasting with a growth of nine per cent in volume in 1955 and seven per cent in 1956 and a post-war annual average of four per cent.

SPENDING ROSE

But there were definite signs that the country was coming out of recession. In the last three months of the year, the economy responded to a sharp rise in consumer spending, a strong advance in exports of goods and services and a halt in the drain of business inventories—the stockpiling of goods on shelves.

The year thus ended on a stronger note, the bureau said, though business outlays for new factories, offices and other construction and new equipment were still declining at the year-end.

Compared with the over-all $32,200,000,000 for the year, the Gross National Product was running at an annual rate of $32,700,000,000 in the last three months. The rise in consumer spending, including the purchase of new automobiles, was the highest in October-December for any quarter since early 1956.

Corporation profits, which had shown a small decline in the June-September period, climbed by 8 per cent in the last three months of the year.

Consumer spending for the year climbed to $20,713,000,000 from $19,678,000,000 in 1957.

IN PARLIAMENT

Liberals, CCF Joke
At PM's Expense

(From Times News Services)

OTTAWA—Prime Minister Diefenbaker indicated in the House Tuesday that he regards his plan for appointing parliamentary secretaries to assist cabinet ministers as an apprenticeship to higher office.

With support from opposition ranks, the prime minister launched debate on his resolution preceding a bill to provide for $4,000-a-year parliamentary secretarieships for a limited number of MPs. He gave no hints of who may fill the posts, formerly designated as parliamentary assistants.

However, he received plenty of advice on that score from opposition speakers who suggested as a starter the 13 parliamentary assistants that Mr. Diefenbaker appointed after coming to power in 1957 and whose appointments were terminated with the dissolution of Parliament for the March 31 election last year.

'Pangs of Hope' Deferred

Mr. Pearson wondered whether the prime minister understood the "sickening pangs of hope deferred."

Mr. Herriedge suggested the legislation providing the posts be named "a bill for the relief of the suspension of some Progressive Conservatives who have been waiting in the wings for over a year."

Mr. Herriedge forecast that the appointments will be followed by keen disappointment and "heart-rending" among government supporters not chosen. He said the appointees must divest themselves of directorships in private companies.

Some potential appointees held directorates and some were partners in law firms and "I know no parliamentary secretary would allow a member of his firm to accept government business."

He urged that since Mr.

The bill, introduced at the night sitting, provides for appointment of up to 16 secretaries, compared to the previous maximum of 14 for parliamentary assistants. Their appointments would be for 12 months; parliamentary assistants were appointed for the life of a Parliament.

Opposition Leader Pearson, H. W. Herriedge (PC, Kootenay West) and Douglas Fisher (CCF-Port Arthur) used the occasion to poke fun at what they called the anxious anticipation with which government supporters have awaited the appointments since last March.

Mr. Fisher added the name of Gordon Chown (PC, Winnipeg South) to those of the former parliamentary assistants as a potential candidate, and suggested Mr. Diefenbaker might consider naming a woman — either Margaret Aitken (York-Humber), or Mrs. Jean Casselman (Grenville-Dundas).

At the night sitting, Mr. Fisher put forward the names of other candidates, some of which he said were not to be taken too seriously. He did not indicate which fell into that category. Among them were former RCMP officer F. J. Bagg (Athabasca) and A. DeB. McPhillips (Victoria).

Nfld. Loggers Draw Benefits

Workers laid off because of the Newfoundland loggers' strike have been eligible for normal unemployment insurance benefits since March 15, Labor Minister Starr said Tuesday.

Replying to J. W. Pickersgill, Liberal MP for the Newfoundland constituency of Bonaville-Twillingate, he said unemployment insurance regulations disqualify workers put out of work as a result of a strike.

However, any disqualification imposed on Newfoundland loggers for this reason had been lifted as of March 15, when it was learned that the company was back on normal production.

Opposing MPs Unite Against Death Penalty

OTTAWA (CP) — Government supporters united in opposition to the death penalty for murder.

In an hour-long debate on the issue Tuesday, only Robert McCleave (PC-Halifax) argued that the death penalty should be retained. There were four other speakers.

"Capital punishment is essentially based on the motive and feeling of revenge," said Frank McGee (PC-York-Scarborough), sponsor of a bill to substitute life imprisonment for hanging as the penalty for murder in Canada.

Harold Winch (CCF-Vancouver East) said there is no sound basis — such as proof it is a deterrent — for retaining capital punishment.

NO ACTION TAKEN
The bill eventually was debated to the end of the hour allotted for private members' legislation with no action taken on it and is unlikely to come up again this session.

Mr. Winch said he witnessed a hanging some years ago and as a result of that experience had been studying the problem of capital punishment ever since. He was convinced the death penalty should be abolished.

PROFESSORS PROPOSE: Shorter Day For Schools

VANCOUVER (CP)—Shorter classroom periods and a shorter school day were advocated today in presentations to the Chant Royal Commission on Education.

University of British Columbia English professors proposed to give students more time "to develop proper study habits and to learn to reason things out for themselves."

The proposal calls for six 40-minute periods rather than the present five 50-minute periods in the school day. This would cut the school day 10 minutes or a total of 50 minutes a week.

The brief was the first of more than 290 submitted to the commission to suggest cutting down classroom time. Most have urged lengthening of hours.

The brief also urged that more teachers be used for fewer students so they can give the students more training and practice in writing.

It claimed students entering university in Canada are two years behind their European counterparts in intellectual maturity and in preparation in most subjects.

It accused the school system of "waste or misdirection of the high school students' time."

"The senior students' overcrowded timetable allow him little intellectual leisure, little time for contemplation, little opportunity to foster the inquiring mind," the brief said.

"Small wonder that we are becoming a nation of passive incurious spectators."

PM GOES HOME FOR EASTER

OTTAWA (UPI) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker will fly to Saskatoon late today to "spend the Easter holiday with his ailing 86-year-old mother."

The Commons adjourns after today's session and does not reopen until April 6.

Law and Order

THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT is fortunate in securing the services of Mr. Rivett-Carnac as commissioner of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. British Columbians have good reason to know that he is admirably qualified in every way for the most important police office in the nation.

But his appointment, admirable as it is, does not touch the grave constitutional question raised by the resignation of his equally able predecessor, Mr. Nicholson.

As was said here before, Mr. Fulton, the minister of justice, was right in believing that the RCMP should not be used to break a strike in Newfoundland and should not be involved in political controversy, if involvement could be prevented.

Now that the full story has come out in Parliament, however, it is clear that Mr. Fulton and his Government acted weakly in this matter, changed their minds at the last minute and were influenced mainly by political considerations. Moreover, they created a precedent which must alarm all the eight provincial Governments where law is enforced by the RCMP.

This was the sequence of events: The attorney-general of Newfoundland, who is responsible for maintaining law and order, believed that he required police reinforcements. His Government had a contract with the Federal Government which guaranteed such reinforcements, within the physical means of the RCMP, in the case of an emergency.

The Federal Government agreed that reinforcements were necessary in Newfoundland and obligatory under the contract. It mobilized fifty police officers, assembled them at Moncton, New Brunswick, and prepared to fly them to Newfoundland. And then suddenly the Government took fright and canceled the reinforcements on the ground that involvement in Premier Smallwood's labor dispute would damage public confidence in the police.

The Government (and Mr. Pearson also) were right, we think, in condemning the legal method used by Mr. Smallwood to crush the International Woodworkers of America. It is always a dangerous business to single out any special group—in this case a small group—for special penalties under the law. Besides, in all provinces except Newfoundland the right of the workers to organize their own bargaining agency is recognized and enforced.

But there can be no doubt that labor legislation, so far as it applies to labor within a province, is solely the business of that province, and not of the Federal Government. It was under that division of authority, as fixed by the nation's constitution, that British Columbia recently amended its labor laws.

To be sure, the Federal Government has unrestricted power to veto any provincial statute but that is a power used rarely nowadays, and would be a particularly dangerous power to use against a poor province like Newfoundland which is certainly struggling with a grave economic crisis, which is a new member of Confederation, and which lives in a society quite different in many ways from that of the nation as a whole. To drive Newfoundland to desperation at this tense moment would be an act of folly.

This Mr. Diefenbaker has wisely avoided, but he has left the Mounted Police in an ambiguous position and eight provincial Governments in doubt.

Suppose that violence of any sort breaks out in a province policed by the RCMP and the attorney-general, responsible for law and order, sees a need for police reinforcements. Will they be sent immediately or will the Federal Government (pondering the political effect of its action) refuse to assist the provincial Government?

In the case of an emergency will the province be at the mercy of an unexpected decision in Ottawa, a sudden reinterpretation of the police contract? How good is any contract which may be thus reinterpreted without notice, as happened in the Newfoundland case, even after the reinforcements have been mobilized and dispatched? How, in short, can an attorney-general suppress violence, whatever its source, if he is never sure whether Ottawa will support him?

There is the crux of the issue which Mr. Diefenbaker and Mr. Fulton have evaded. When violence occurs, whatever the merits of a dispute may be, the first duty of government is to enforce the law. No employer, no labor union member, no citizen is entitled to break the law, no matter what his grievance, and no government can fail to enforce the law without jeopardizing all law and condoning violence.

Obviously the Federal Government did not wish to condone violence in Newfoundland. On the contrary, Mr. Fulton says he canceled the police reinforcements lest they foment more violence. But the matter cannot be left there. While Newfoundland is suing the Federal Government for breach of the police contract, the other seven provinces directly concerned will have to reconsider and clarify their contracts. Every provincial Government must know in advance, and not after the trouble has begun, what Ottawa will do in the event of an emergency.

Winnipeg Looks at the Indians

THE WELFARE COUNCIL OF Greater Winnipeg has recently considered the position of Indians and Metis in Manitoba and has come to definite conclusions on how it might be improved.

The council looks forward to a larger conference involving welfare officials of federal, provincial and municipal governments, possibly called to discuss grants and loans for the Indian farmers.

The concern shown in Winnipeg for Indians is matched on the Pacific Coast by many groups interested in improving the natives' status. It is doubtful, however, if any farm loan aid would be of substantial value to Indians here. The number engaged in that occupation is limited.

The thinking behind the loan proposal, however, might be applied.

The welfare council favors loans rather than grants because money advanced to the Indians on the understanding that they will pay it back encourages a sense of responsibility. It has not the barren results of a hand-out. The United States government provided loans for Indians and found the experiment successful. The borrowers worked to discharge their debts.

Whatever assistance might be offered in Canada, however, provision of money alone would not be sufficient. With it would have to go instruction in Indian leadership among Indians. Such a scheme—and it has been suggested by the Winnipeg group—could well provide more positive value than loans.

It seems obvious to many people who have considered the native problem that a solution to it is most likely to come from the Indians themselves when they decide to find a solution.

They deserve sympathy in their efforts to meet the demands of modern society, and a like sympathy if they wish to preserve a certain immunity from it. But if they desire to compete in the world of today—and it is by no means sure that they harbor such desires—the impulse of competition must come from their own numbers. And leadership must be developed.

Unkindest Cut of All

FOR THE BETTER PART OF HIS working lifetime, Mr. George I. Warren has devoted his talents to publicizing the capital of British Columbia.

If his vocabulary were reduced to three words, they would be "Victoria, Victoria, Victoria."

The publicity commissioner has been injured times without number by people who have erroneously placed the city on the mainland, who have left its name entirely off maps and generally shown disregard for the town of his heart.

The slings and arrows of outrageous fortune pursue George. He has just been informed by this very close friends of the Canadian Tourist Association, over the signature of his bosom pal John Fisher, that his intimates of the Canadian Hotelmen's Association will hold their convention in "the Empress Hotel, Vancouver."

This is the most unkindest cut of all.

MAN'S SOUND IDEA

Getting the Message Across

By B. A. TOBIN

THE vocal sounds of man have an infinite variety. In the realm of words he has reached heights of oratory and depths of soapbox braying; he has made history with a few quiet words and made a fool of himself with thundered idiocies; he has brought tears with a murmur and yawns with a message; he has created laughter with a muttered phrase and killed his neighbor with a single syllable. Throughout his life he endlessly demonstrates the power of words and their weakness. He sells words, gives them away, forces them on others and steals them. Words are his tools, his weapons, his implements, and with them he can shout down fortress walls or whisper boudoir doors open.

Words claim our main attention. But intelligible syllables are not the only means of conveying meanings. Dozens of other sounds issue from the throat and can be just as expressive—and perhaps much more—than the usual articulation.

Laughter is a difficult sound to describe or to spell, but its effectiveness cannot be overestimated. Relieving amused feelings is only one of its functions.

Used with intent it can cheer someone's drooping spirits or blast his career, mock him or anger him, warm him or chill him, rouse his love or hatred. Laughter is a versatile sound.

Basically, however, it is never more than an animal sound. All its meaning comes from the inflections placed on it, the tone and the expression given to it.

One laugh can be an admiring tribute, another a derisive sneer. It can be a baby's gurgle, a schoolgirl's giggle, a Santa Claus' chuckle or a fat man's guffaw. In a mob it can signal the tumble of a clown or the fall of the guillotine.

One of the accomplishments of man is that he doesn't have to open his mouth to speak. With lips compressed, he can put a world of meaning into "M-m-m-m." It can be a question, an exclamation, a protest or a sign of agreement.

"M-m-m-m" can warn, lure, repel or approve. It can mean almost anything, and in almost any language. It must have been one of the first forms of communication between human beings.

"M-m-m-m" is not far from the grunt, but is much more expressive. The grunt, about as close to the animal sounds as man can approach, has a limited appeal.

It can indicate disgust, contempt, grudging approval, querulous interrogation, exasperation, pain, reluctant assent. Obviously it is on a much lower plane than "M-m-m-m"—a rougher, more elemental form of communication—and probably preceded it by a million years or so in the development of human speech.

Rudimentary Type

Perhaps the lowest in the scale of all human noises is the cough. Most animals make coughing noises. You hear the same sound in the woods and fields that you do at symphony concerts or in movie theatres. And while most coughs in human beings have become involuntary, they still retain some of their former qualities as rudimentary types of speech.

Observe how a single cough in a crowd of people will set off a dozen answering coughs. Obviously some elementary form of herd communication is at work here. Without conscious thought by their owners, the vocal cords tighten up and emit a hoarse sound, just as grazing cattle may keep in touch or the first primates may have hooted signals to each other from rocky cliffs in the dawn of history.

In each human breast the age-old instinct still persists. Cough anywhere in a crowd and you'll get your reassuring answer.

But the usually involuntary cough can also be used on purpose. Many a bridge-table victory has been due to an informative cough or two from wife to husband. Many a risqué joke, embarked on by the jolly host, has been switched off into harmless channels by a warning cough from the watchful hostess. In fact warnings appear to be the most useful field for this atavistic form of speech.

Varied Uses

The cough warns that milady's slip is showing, that the woman who is the subject of the conversation is now approaching the group, that the guest of honor has tried twice to get a word into the table conversation and should now be allowed to do so, that the funny-looking woman you are describing to the man at the cocktail party is his wife, that your wife thinks you should not accept that third cocktail, that you are expected to pick up the dinner check, that it is long after midnight and time you went home.

All such coughs have a useful purpose; man's first means of communication still serves him well, though in a limited way.

The deferential cough—that so useful tool of the novelist—serves much better than any mere word to ask the man at the desk if he will look up and recognize the presence of his humble caller. The apologetic cough, when some sound is called for but no intelligible word will quite fit the situation, is an invaluable human noise. And the reproving cough, softly but firmly expressed, has halted many a wrong word or act just in time.

There are no dictionaries of such sounds, no glossaries or encyclopaedias. They are a part of our heritage, a language deep in the instinct of the race, and no doubt they will be with us long after telepathy has withered our finer forms of speech.

In the Opinion of Our Correspondents

Details, Mr. Finlayson

Mr. Deane Finlayson, leader of B.C. Conservative party, was reported in the Times of March 20, to have predicted a provincial election in September, and to have announced to the public at Dawson Creek that he "supports" the proposed development of Peace River power but criticizes the government for not making clear its intentions in the matter.

Premier Bennett has made one intention clear, viz., that the application of the Peace River Power Development Company will be made to, and decided by, the water controller uninfluenced by the government (implying that the government will not require alteration of the composition of the company or of its proposed plans).

The information given to the public by the press about this company is that it is a "subsidiary" of the Wenner-Gren Development Company, and is "controlled" by Wenner-Gren (Dillon O'Leary in Victoria Times), and that the aim of the company is to process uranium for atomic power plants. This clearly implies that Wenner-Gren is to have control of both our highest priority defence mineral and its processing, and also of the resultant material which is a form useful for military weapons.

Without putting it into precise words, Mr. Bennett has made clear that his intention has been to have this situation, as it was he who put Wenner-Gren into a position so that there could be no such enterprise otherwise. It is upon such information that Mr. Finlayson now supports this proposed development of Peace River power, and this company and this project?

ONE VOTER.

Let's Have the Report

To compare the labor eruption in Newfoundland with the friction that has evolved here, in British Columbia, is outright farcical. The civil service had no other recourse than the one they took—or are taking—because of the government's own withholding of the Carrothers Report which was instituted in the first place to both clarify and advise on this very problem that the government is labelling "a strike against the people."

Once again advantage is being taken of a small minority in opposition in the House and in true machiavellian style. The people as a whole, as well as the legislature, have a legal right to the information contained in the findings of the aforesaid report. Too many committees and reports have been formed by the present regime for public information that has eventually been held as the prerequisite of a "political" cabal.

The government should bear in mind that when they need to raise their own indemnities, and lavishly distribute patronage, as is so self-evident today, as well as safeguarding their own future interests by way of pensions, etc., they do not need to strike but just take advantage of privilege and await their verdict at the polls. It is there that the people have the power to implement, and restore, the true meaning of the Magna Carta before that too is pigeonholed for all time.

Favoritism?

An advertisement of a real estate company in the Okanagan carries the following:

All British Columbia residents enjoy these financial advantages: (1) Free hospitalization; (2) A provincial government bonus of $5 per month per person on old age pensions; (3) A tax rebate of $28 per year to all homeowners.

Why does one portion of the country receive these benefits when the low-income person who through thrift and hard work and suffering from inflation and depressed bonds be excluded?

Is this propaganda? Whatever it is, the word "all" needs clarifying.

Can Mr. K. Back Down?

By Joseph Alsop From Washington

IN the language of "Alice," the political situation in the Soviet Union is getting curiously and curiously. It could even turn out to have rather more bearing on the Berlin crisis than the ritual consultations between the president and Prime Minister Macmillan.

The latest enigma is the abrupt replacement of the chairman of the State Planning Commission, Iosif Kuzmin, by his own deputy, Alexei Kosygin. In American terms, this is like the sudden, unexplained replacement of the secretary of the treasury plus the director of the budget bureau. The evidence is too conflicting to be made clear who has been doing what to whom; that the Kuzmin-Kosygin shift is certainly linked to inner party politics in some way or other.

What makes the latest enigma so vividly interesting, however, is its place at the end of a considerable list of other enigmas. Taken together, they indicate that all sorts of contradictory forces are still at work within the Kremlin, behind the facade of Nikita Khrushchev's seemingly monolithic control.

The proof is plain, if the enigmas are simply listed item by item.

Item: The party secretaries (i.e., the party bosses) of two provincial districts and the ultra-important Moscow district were recently disciplined and cashiered. These men were charged with having conducted an agitation in the party cells in their district, and especially in the military cells of the party, against measures to discipline the so-called "anti-party group" of Khrushchev's enemies at the party congress in January.

This must mean that Khrushchev tried and failed to get the party congress to use really severe measures against his enemies. It must mean further that he was opposed by the Red army, at any rate at that time.

Item: At the congress itself, the wicked "anti-party group" was endlessly denounced, with special shrillness by the now-demoted Kuzmin. The lesser, more lately mentioned members of the group, old Nikolai Bulganin, Pervukhin (whom Kuzmin especially attacked) and Saburov, all came before the congress and grovelled in proper form. But the key, original members of the group, Georgi Malenkov, Vyacheslav Molotov, Kaganovich and Shepilov, were all noteworthy absentees and non-grovelers. Item two fits neatly on to item one.

Chinese Influence

Item: Prior to the party congress an attempt was made to transfer Khrushchev's most influential enemy, Vyacheslav Molotov, from his ambassadorial post in Outer Mongolia to the Soviet Embassy to The Netherlands. In Eulian-Bator, Molotov is believed to be in close contact with the Chinese Communists, who are in turn believed to take a major stand in the inner party intrigues in the Kremlin.

If Molotov had gone to The Hague, the contact with the Chinese would have been broken. But Molotov did not go, although the Dutch did not object.

Item: Also prior to the party congress, a much-touted plenum of the central committee of the party was held in Moscow. After the plenum, the absolutely unprecedented step was taken of publishing the transcript of the discussions. The main points discussed were the familiar sins of the anti-party group, and the glories of Nikita Khrushchev's agricultural program.

The break with precedent implied a desire to intimidate the political opponents. And again, the absentees from the plenum were noteworthy. Those who attended were almost exclusively the provincial party leaders; who have always been mainly pro-Khrushchev. Among the key people on the heights in Moscow, only Khrushchev himself appeared and spoke.

All these items combined suggest that the enormous power now concentrated in Khrushchev's hands is only conditional power as yet. If Khrushchev has indeed tried and failed to discipline his enemies more sharply, and to ship Molotov off to The Hague, then he cannot as yet be the absolute master in the Kremlin house.

Crucial Areas

He must have enough opponents, probably old Stalinists in the main, to prevent him from carrying all before him in the most crucial of all areas, the area of inner party politics.

That fact in turn undoubtedly has enormous meaning in terms of the Berlin crisis. To be sure, it may mean that Khrushchev has threatened Berlin because he had to conciliate the Stalinist advocates of a hard line. Or it may mean that Khrushchev is taking a great personal gamble, in order to win such a victory that no one will dare to oppose him.

Either way, however, it may not be easy for Khrushchev to back down in the manner so hopefully predicted by the American policymakers.

CHANGE AND TRADITION

The fear of change is frequently expressed in terms of respect for continuity and tradition. It is not always remembered that the most persistent tradition in the history of the development of towns is just this capacity for change, in face of changing needs, as the essential means of survival.

Berlin Answer Sought

NEW YORK—The possibility of a United Nations role in attempting to find a solution to the Berlin crisis is considered enhanced by President Eisenhower's recent nationwide television address and by the proposals which Prime Minister Harold Macmillan of Britain brought to Washington.

President Eisenhower gave tentative approval to the idea of a Summit Conference this summer and at the United Nations it is suggested that the international organization might participate in such talks in two ways:

The UN could participate in an indirect way by playing host to the meeting and putting its facilities at the disposal of the conferees. Geneva, location of the UN's European headquarters, was the scene of the 1955 summit and is considered a likely site for the 1959 conference because of its neutral, mid-way position and because of the facilities available at the Palais Des Nations.

The UN could participate in a more direct way, however, if Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld were invited to participate. Mr. Hammarskjöld would have participated last year if the proposal for a summit conference at the UN in New York had not been cancelled at the last moment. It's suggested at the UN that the United States would like to have Mr. Hammarskjöld invited again this year, possibly to act as a neutral chairman.

The Secretary-General himself recently made a statement in Rangoon which is interpreted as a subtle suggestion that the UN might participate in high-level talks.

"UN has the possibility to increase the means, add to the means, through which we can negotiate successfully on the many problems which have to be resolved," he said.

Mr. Hammarskjöld emphasized that "war has outgrown the human possibility of control" and thus the old pattern which nations can now follow is "Negotiation and again negotiation with endless patience."

"There is no alternative to negotiation, and it is our duty to render negotiation as effective as possible," he told his Rangoon audience. "And if that is our duty then we simply have to have an organization like UN and we have to use it."

It's considered significant that these remarks were made shortly before his departure for Moscow. The Secretary-General changed the itinerary of his Asian tour to pay a call to Moscow on his return trip. It is considered almost certain that during his talks with Russian leaders, he will discuss Berlin and the idea of summit talks.

There is considered virtually no possibility that summit talks would be held within the framework of the Security Council as was proposed for last year's talks. This proposal was made last year by the United States apparently with the intention of limiting the scope of the talks and was a main factor in the eventual Russian refusal to participate.

The voting balance in the Security Council, which is heavily against the Russians, plus the presence of smaller nations such as Canada, not immediately concerned, is considered to make the Security Council an unsatisfactory body within which to hold sum-

There is another entirely different field in which the UN might participate in attempting to reach a solution to the Berlin crisis and this is in what Mr. Hammarskjöld has referred to as the "executive" field. In other words the United Nations might be concerned in carrying out any decision taken at a high-level conference.

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev has proposed that the United Nations be represented in Berlin to oversee the status of Berlin as a free city. It's understood that Prime Minister Macmillan's proposals might also entail UN action. Mr. Macmillan is understood to favor creation of East-West corridors in Europe within which Eastern and Western forces might be progressively disengaged.

Senator J. William Fulbright, chairman of the U.S. Senate foreign relations committee, has also spoken in favor of the corridors idea, one of which would include the city of Berlin. It is believed at the UN that the use of UN forces or UN observers within these corridors would be logical.

IRAQ PULLOUT POSES PROBLEM

Change of Name Needed for Pact

LONDON (AP)—The Baghdad Pact is looking for a new name following Iraq's withdrawal from the anti-Communist alliance.

Premier Abdel Karim Kassem formally pulled his country out of the alliance Tuesday in a move seemingly designed to please both the pan-Arab followers of President Nasser and the Soviet Bloc.

The alliance took its name from the Iraqi capital, where the pact was signed in 1955 by Iraq, Iran, Pakistan, Turkey and Britain. But the other four governments and the United States—which supports the alliance but is not a member—already had written off Iraq as a military ally. Kassem had boycotted all pact activities since he overthrew the monarchy last July.

The Iraqi move raised doubt about the future of the Royal Air Force base at Habbaniyah, west of Baghdad. The RAF base of 600 men and a number of planes operated under the Baghdad Pact.

Kassem met Tuesday with Baghdad editors and ordered them to "forget Nasser" and not waste time replying to U.A.R. attacks.

"Within three years," he told the editors, "Iraq will be the most powerful nation in the Middle East."

The Iraqi premier insisted his revolutionary government was still adhering to a policy of positive neutrality. The regime, however, clearly has moved further to the left in recent months.

U.A.R. DISDAINFUL
The first reaction from the United Arab Republic was one of disdain. The semi-official Middle East News Agency, repeating the old charge that the pact sought to destroy Arab nationalism, said this also was the aim of "Kassem's policy as well as the penetration of Communist imperialism into Iraq."

Royal Tour Changes

By DON ATTFIELD

Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—Several communities are to be added to the itinerary for this summer's Royal Tour of Canada. It was learned today. There also will be one or two deletions.

Royal Tour organizers are expected to announce the changes in a revised tentative itinerary next week.

Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip are visiting Canada primarily to open the St. Lawrence Seaway at Montreal and Cornwall, June 26 and 27, but will stop at as many as 85 other centres from coast to coast between their arrival, June 18, at St. John's, and their departure, August 1, from Halifax.

A Royal Tour spokesman said many communities have asked the Royal Tour commission that they be added to an outline itinerary announced January 20. It had been found possible to add some of them, but "one or two others, because of geographical problems, will have to be dropped."

Among additions may be Chamberlain, Moose Jaw and Moosomin, all in Saskatchewan. Findlater, Sask., would be dropped.

There will be other changes, affecting only small centres where the royal train stops for between 10 minutes and one hour.

Terrace, B.C., may be added, on the Queen's flight from Victoria to Whitehorse, Yukon.

It now appears that the royal party will visit Dawson City, Yukon, which was listed only as a "possible" stop originally. If the trip to Dawson is made, there also be a stop at Mayo Landing, between Dawson and Whitehorse.

One major change possible is in the Queen's plan for return to the United Kingdom.

Exact form of the seaway opening ceremony at Montreal has not been decided, but it likely will involve the snapping of a ribbon across the St. Lambert Canal by the prow of the royal yacht carrying the Queen and President Eisenhower.

Local program committees planning royal party visits to individual communities are late in completing their plans, officials here said. All programs were to be in by March 15, but it now is expected they will not all be in until mid-April.

Central organizers here say they hope to have an itinerary, complete with exact times, available by the end of April, after approval by Prime Minister Diefenbaker and Buckingham Palace.

The early itinerary called for a return by air from Halifax. It is now understood she may instead travel all the way aboard the Britannia.

A two-day rest period set aside for the royal party while in the Kamloops area of British Columbia will be spent in a privately owned estate, it was learned. A choice from among three or four ranches in the immediate area is to be made by the B.C. co-ordinating committee.

Best Flowering Shrubs

From the wealth of flowering shrubs which may be grown to perfection in Victoria gardens, it is difficult to select a short list of the easiest or the best.

Any selection is arbitrary and will not meet with the approval of all gardeners. What may be easy in one garden can be difficult in the next, but the important part of shrub selection is the choosing of the right kind for a particular place. Some shrubs, like the large-leaved rhododendrons, thrive in partial shade, while others are ideally suited to dry, sloping banks in full sun. Among these are the many species of cytisus (broom), which may be prostrate, sprawling, or compactly upright. Flowering in May and June, the colors range from the palest cream to purple and brown. And as an evergreen ground cover beneath the brooms, helianthemums (sun-rose) are suggested, for they flower from June on.

A number of shrubs will flower in June; but the rest of the summer most gardeners are content to rely on annuals and perennials for color.

Forgotten are such treasures as the escallonia, most of them with dark green evergreen leaves and masses of small pink flowers; Abelia schumannii, also evergreen, with pink flowers for many weeks and eminently suited to the rock garden; Perowskia atriplicifolia, a graceful, grey-foliaged shrub with spikes of lavender flowers. There are no recognized common names for these three.

Worldly Boys Still Need Scout Life

Modern-day boys are more worldly than the boys of 15 years ago, but they still need the training Scouting gives them, the province's top scout leader said Tuesday.

New B.C. commissioner Brig. William G. H. Roaf told the quarterly meeting of the B.C. Scouts' Association, Victoria district, "today's more sophisticated boys can still be made better citizens through Scouting and an interest in the outdoors."

He advised leaders to show Scouts "the skills of the outdoors and give them lots to do," noting they had to compete with "the distractions of radio, television and big-city life."

Brig. Roaf presented certificates to leaders who passed a district commissioners' course:

W. H. Gibson, F. C. Nelson, G. W. Oliphant, Donald Hamer, D. F. Mason and R. L. V. Jermain, district president.

SOME 558 MAN-YEARS of service to Victoria were represented at the second annual banquet of the City Hall Quarter-Century Club Tuesday night at the City Hall.

The 18-member organization elected city clerk Frank Hunter, with 41 years service, as its 1959 president, succeeding John I. Smith, cashier and dean of City Hall employees with 47 years of service. James P. Marrs, water rates department, is the new vice-president, and Margaret Andrews, the only lady in the club, is its secretary.

NOTHING TO FEAR

Read Marx, Bishop Advises

One of the leading bishops of the U.S. Episcopal Church says he favored teaching some of the works of Communist Karl Marx in schools.

Right Rev. Stephen Bayne of Washington State, who visited Victoria Tuesday, said there was nothing to fear from Marxism.

"I believe a man benefits through a sound knowledge of other people's beliefs," he explained. "It strengthens his own religious and political convictions."

The bishop, a scholar and an authority on church marriage laws, said he was against the banning of books such as "Das Kapital," one written by Karl Marx, or restricting their circulation.

"Our biggest enemy is ignorance," he said.

"A student is better equipped to counter the claims of communism if he has read and studied Karl Marx," he said. "A person whose beliefs have never been challenged or who has never examined his convictions is an easy target for propaganda."

Marx made a pretty strong attack on religion," he added.

Earlier, the bishop spoke on a similar theme at the Kiwanis Club luncheon.

B.C. Mental Health Policy Scored by P-T Leaders

VANCOUVER (CP) — The British Columbia Parent-Teacher Federation has presented a brief to the provincial government bitterly criticizing cutbacks in mental health and correctional services.

The federation, representing 52,000 members in 639 associations, demanded "immediate action" to restore the standard of service available before the cutbacks.

"Grave concern exists that the services in the fields of mental health and corrections are not only failing to improve in quality with advances in scientific knowledge, and in quantity with increase in population, but are deteriorating in both quality and quantity," the brief said.

"We are deeply concerned with the conditions existing in all branches of these services and feel any delay in restoring and improving British Columbia's program can only result in a deplorable situation."

CONDUCTED PROBE

The brief is the result of an investigation that followed denials made last year by Secretary W. D. Black that any staff cuts had been made at provincial institutions.

The federation brief, presented to the government in January this year and released to the press Monday, argues that Mr. Black's statement is false.

QUEEN SCOUTS COMING; NEED BILLETS HERE

Temporary homes are still needed for Queen Scouts coming to Victoria for the Queen's Scouts' fourth annual provincial ceremony April 1 to 3.

Victorian families with a room to spare are asked to contact scout headquarters at EV 2-3915 between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m.

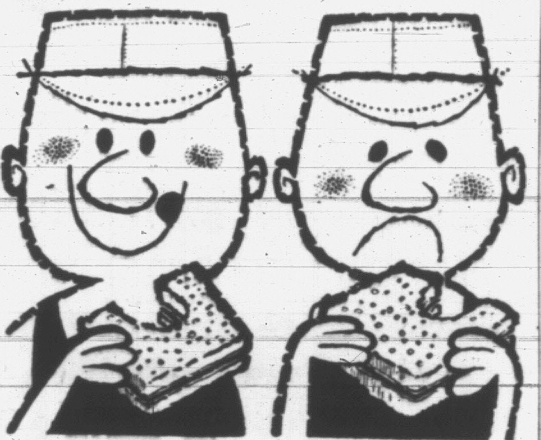

They will be asked to collect their scouts at Thunderbird Park 5 p.m. April 1. They will leave 9 a.m. April 3.

The visitors require overnight accommodation April 1 and 2, plus supper April 1 and breakfast April 2 and 3.

It says reports from the heads of all departments from all branches of the mental health services in 1957 and a study of the 1957 government annual report show:

All staff vacancies in mental health services were not filled and those filled sometimes were filled by less qualified or unqualified employees; services were not expanding to meet the needs of the people; overloading of staff is causing discontent which is reflected in relations with patients; preventative services are declining severely and shortage of trained social workers has resulted in reduction of rehabilitation services; and the ratio of trained staff to untrained staff to patient have deteriorated to an extremely low point.

Fate of Historic School Debated

Saanich councillors and through the assistance of the trustees of the historic Craigflower School have agreed to hold a meeting to iron out their disagreement over the future maintenance and operation of the 104-year-old school.

Saanich, which owns the property, wants the Historic Sites and Monuments Board of Canada to take over the school, situated on the Gorge on Admirals Road, on the grounds that it is too expensive to maintain.

It made a $5,000 grant towards the school's upkeep last year.

The school trustees want to continue to operate the school as a museum.

Reeve George Chatterton said Saanich could not continue to spend money on the historic site.

"It's too costly to operate," he said.

W. J. V. Church, trustee, said the school's committee was capable of paying for the maintenance of the school.

He said in the last two years more than $3,000 had been spent on improving and renovating the old school. Improvements include a sewer connection, a new roof and plumbing.

The school was also completely rewired, he said.

It was also planned to increase the museum exhibits

HOW YOUR LIVER BILE BREAKS DOWN FAT

Laboratory tests have now proved that liver bile emulsifies fat... actually breaks it down. It is an established medical fact that when liver bile is added to fatty acids, the fat is broken down and forms a smooth, easy-flowing mix.

In your body, precious liver bile helps break down fat the same way. Many foods reach the digestive tract as undigested fatty acids. Your golden liver bile helps break down this fat... unblocks it... for easier and more complete digestion.

Carter's Little Liver Pills exclusive formula of natural, vegetable ingredients relieves irregularity gently and effectively. At the same time, it actually improves the flow of liver bile needed to break down fat in your body.

So when you feel sluggish, headachy, nervous and need a laxative, get Carter's Little Liver Pills. Remember, Carter's not only relieves irregularity, but actually improves the flow of liver bile needed to break down fat. Only 43¢.

'MY CHANCES ARE JUST FINE'

Mrs. Duncan Optimistic She'll Win a Reprieve

VENTURA, Calif. (AP)—"I think my chances for an appeal are just fine," says condemned murderess Elizabeth Duncan.

She made the optimistic statement Tuesday after being declared sane and subject to the death sentence for hiring two men to murder her Canadian daughter-in-law.

Earlier she had been convicted of first degree murder and sentenced to death in the gas chamber.

Immediately after Judge Charles F. Blackstock accepted the conclusions of two psychiatrists that Mrs. Duncan was sane, defence lawyer S. Ward Sullivan took the first post-trial step in what is expected to be a long legal fight to save her life.

Sullivan filed a motion for a new trial and asked that Mrs. Duncan's son, Frank, 30, a Santa Barbara lawyer, be associated with him to argue the motion.

Judge Blackstock said he would consider the motion April 3. If he denies it, he is expected to formally sentence Mrs. Duncan at that time.

Sullivan has said he would carry an appeal from the conviction to the higher courts.

Mrs. Duncan, jealous of Frank's bride, Olga, 30, was convicted of hiring two men to kill her daughter-in-law on the promise of paying $6,000. Augustine Baldonado, 22, and Luis Moya, 20, confessed kidnapping and strangling Olga, who was born near Dauphin, Man. They are awaiting trial on pleas of innocent by reason of insanity.

B.C. Whaling Fleet Leaves Port Friday

VANCOUVER (CP)—Eleven sailors from Newfoundland were scheduled to arrive here by air today to help in the annual whale hunt in northern B.C. waters.

The whaling ships operated by B.C. Packers Ltd. were scheduled to be laid up earlier this year because of a union dispute over wages. The dispute was settled and the ships are scheduled to begin sailing Friday.

Three men who operate the whaling guns are scheduled to fly from Cape Town, South Africa, to join the fleet April 3. They have been working during the winter in the Antarctic.

The industry provides a $500,000 yearly payroll for B.C. and kills about 700 whales annually.

B.C. Debt Picture 'Misleading'

J. A. A. GEORGE
fights Wenner-Gren

The B.C. Social Credit government, while claiming debt reduction, has increased the debt of every man, woman and child in the province by 58 per cent, James A. A. George, Victoria investment counsellor, said Tuesday night.

Mr. George was speaking after his nomination as Progressive Conservative candidate for Oak Bay, in the next provincial election.

He defeated the only other nominee, William Nelles, by 58 votes to 11.

In a slashing attack on the Soerod regime, he claimed the government had evolved a plan of debt-calculation "which is completely contrary to all accepted principles."

"Any private company attempting to issue a yearly financial statement based on such half-truths and untruths would certainly and rightfully be accused of fraud," Mr. George declared.

PUBLIC MISLED
He said that government's claim it was reducing the debt of the province was entirely misleading.

"The people can choose between the Social Credit figures and those of the Financial Post," he added.

Attacking the proposed Wenner-Gren development in northern B.C., Mr. George said:

"We shall be doing ourselves a great disservice if we ever permit the government to hand over an empire in the strategic north to a man who was publicly described as an enemy of Canada."

HELL FIGHT IT
"If permission is granted to the Wenner-Gren company to develop the Peace River without first discussing the matter in open debate in the legislature, I will do all in my power to see that the order-in-council is revoked."

Mr. George said he would seek to have the order revoked by bringing public pressure to bear upon the cabinet.

"It seems now that the Social Credit government, or rather its financial agent, Elmer Gundersen, intend to make certain that Wenner-Gren is given one-tenth of the whole province to develop as he sees fit."

"They seem to think this matter is of no concern to the people of this province and there is no need to discuss it."

AND THE SENATE HOWLED

New York City Separate State?

NEW YORK (AP) — New York City is looking into the possibility of seceding from New York and seeking statehood.

The suggestion that the city become a sovereign state caused the state senate to rock with laughter. But the city fathers maintained they are serious.

Demands for separation of the city from the rest of the state go back almost 100 years. Bills calling for secession have been introduced into the legislature many times.

How to do it legally has always been a question. A move calling for a committee to study the possibility was introduced in city council Tuesday, and referred to the rules committee for study.

BITTER TAX FIGHT
The move came in the wake of a bitter fight between the city and the state over money. The city government, which is democratic, said it must have new taxes this year to balance its budget. Permission was needed from the legislature, which is Republican.

The city leaders claimed they had to go "hat in hand" to Albany. They didn't get all the taxing power they wanted.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner's immediate response was to lop $2,000,000 off the budget, announcing the pinch would be felt by 80,000 city employees who would get smaller pay raises, or none at all.

The mayor's austerity program brought a wave of protest from city employees. They threatened mass resignations and protest work stoppages.

SENATE HOWLS
At Albany, the state Senate howled with laughter Tuesday when a resolution was introduced to let New York City secede.

The move called for a state constitutional amendment to create South New York (New York City) and North New York (the rest of the state).

The leading rebel was Joseph Zaretski, leader of the minority Senate Democrats. He repeated a frequent city complaint, that the city is often short-changed in the matter of state aid.

The amendment was defeated in a voice vote.

The secession resolution offered in city council came from Joseph T. Sharkey, Democratic majority leader, and 10 other Democratic councilmen.

It calls for a committee to be set up to study "the possibility and legality of New York City seceding from the State of New York for the purpose of becoming a sovereign state."

Sharkey denounced what he called the "vicious attitude" of Republican governor Nelson A. Rockefeller and the legislature in imposing "economic slavery" on the city.

War Veteran Freeman Dies Aged 80
Francis Scott Mason, 80, a double leg amputee as the result of overseas service in the First World War, died in Royal Jubilee Hospital early Tuesday morning after a lengthy illness.

Mr. Mason, who was born in Surrey, England, came to Canada in 1913, and served in his profession as a surveyor. In 1916 he enlisted with the Canadian Field Artillery and served in France with the 58th Battery.

Mr. Mason was a member of No. 1 Perfection Lodge and Rose Croix, A.F. & A.M. He is survived by the widow at the family residence, 1011 Island Road, and a sister, Emily, of this city.

The funeral will be held Thursday afternoon at 3:30 from St. Mary's Church. It was a request of Mr. Mason that flowers be omitted in favor of donations to the Senior Citizens' Housing Project, care of A. V. Price, 1400 Beach Drive.

Brewery Official, CNE President, Fred Walsh Dies

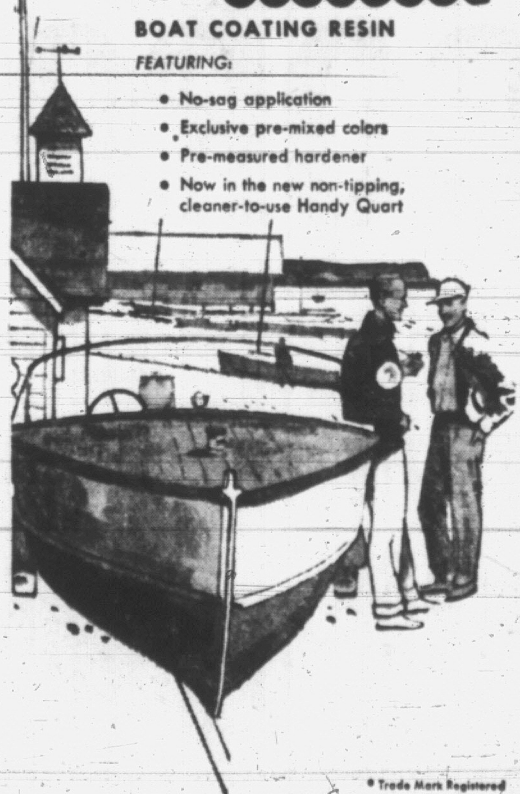

TORONTO (CP)—Fred T. Walsh, 73, secretary-treasurer of O'Keefe's Brewing Company Limited and Canadian Breweries Limited, until his retirement in 1945, died at his home here Tuesday.

Mr. Walsh was immediate past president of the Canadian National Exhibition and a member of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association until a few years ago. He served in an advisory capacity with the unemployment insurance commission.

Born in Toronto, Mr. Walsh was active in many community organizations. He was treasurer of the Catholic Children's Aid Society for 35 years and served for 10 years on the Toronto board of education.

He is survived by his wife, two sons, a daughter, and a sister.

RIGHT THROUGH — YATES TO VIEW

Six Months Jail In Traffic Death

Sentence of six months in Oakalla was passed on B.C. Pilotage Authority Capt. Patrick Morrison, 35, in Assize Court late Tuesday for criminal negligence arising from a fatal traffic accident last August.

In pronouncing sentence, Mr. Justice H. A. Maclean noted that the jury had recommended leniency but said he had to "remember that my first duty is the protection of the public."

"One man was killed in this accident. But for the grace of God more people, including the accused, could have met their deaths."

PEGGED AS DRIVER

Morrison was proved to be the driver of a car carrying three occupants that slammed into a lamp standard at a speed between 50 and 80 miles an hour at Douglas and Trans-Canada Highway, August 21.

One man in the car, Captain W. O. Boyce, died as a result of his injuries. Morrison and a third occupant, Captain John McKay, suffered severe injuries.

Defence counsel Alan Macfarlane pleaded for a suspended sentence for Morrison, pointing out the accused had no previous convictions and was of good character.

Mr. Macfarlane said Morrison's wife was expecting a fourth child, and he submitted Morrison had already paid for his crime by the long period he had spent in hospital following the accident.

Morrison was still under medical care, counsel said, following a relapse in February.

DETERRENT NEEDED

Prosecutor A. E. Bigelow suggested a moderate jail term would "meet the ends of justice."

"The sentence should act as a deterrent to others as well as punishment for the accused," he said.

Mr. Justice Maclean told Morrison his offense was "a very serious one indeed—you with all your marine training should have some feeling of responsibility."

"Bearing in mind the excellent character you have borne up to now, I have to remember that my first duty is the protection of the public. You are sentenced to six months in Oakalla Prison Farm."

The judge thanked the jury "on behalf of the government for your close attention during this drama of life."

Mr. Macfarlane said later he had received no instructions as to a possible appeal.

'GET OUT THERE,' BUT HOME LOST

NORTH KAMLOOPS (CP)

An alarm clock that went off early and the personal intervention of Highways Minister Gaglardi failed Monday to save the home of a family in suburban Brocklehurst.

Ernest S. Eastman, his wife and four young children escaped with some of their belongings when flames destroyed the home.

Attempts to save the home were thwarted because Brocklehurst has no brigade of its own and North Kamloops village policy forbids sending equipment outside village boundaries.

Mr. Eastman said the alarm clock went off inexplicably at 4 a.m., rousing him. He heard crackling in the roof and got his family outside.

Mr. Eastman phoned Mr. Gaglardi at his Kamloops home. The highways minister phoned the Kamloops fire department and was told the district truck could not go out unless its services were paid for.

"Never mind that now," said Mr. Gaglardi, "get out to the fire."

By the time the fire truck got there, the Eastman home was beyond saving.

LOCAL BRIEFS

Gordon Smith, Rocky Point Road, was fined $35 and his driver's licence was suspended in Oak Bay police court Tuesday when he pleaded guilty to a careless driving charge arising from a two-car crash at Lansdowne and Poul-Bay Saturday.

Driver of the other car, Mrs. B. Watson, 3291 Woodburn, was treated for ankle and forehead injuries.

The new destroyer-escort HMCS Kootenay will complete post-commissioning trials and work-ups in Vancouver Island waters today.

She is scheduled to sail for the east coast Monday to join the Atlantic command.

Kootenay will call at San Diego April 6 to 9; Balboa April 17 to 19, before reaching Halifax April 29.

She is commanded by Cmdr. R. J. Pickford.

Mayor Percy Scurrell Tuesday said he would be willing to attend a conference of B.C. mayors and reeves proposed by Vancouver Mayor Tom Alsbury to discuss redivision of financial responsibilities among the three levels of government.

But Mayor Scurrell added that the only hope of making progress towards that goal is through the established channels—the Union of B.C. Municipalities or the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities.

Tall Tower for Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—A 123-story luxury apartment-hotel which would be among the tallest buildings in the world may be built in Toronto, it was reported today.

The $318,000,000 proposed structure would be built on 5½ acres of Toronto Transit Commission property in the city's west end by Warner Holdings Limited, a Calgary firm.

The firm Tuesday made the TTC a written offer of $50,000 for a 99-year lease on the property.

The building would provide indoor parking, office space, restaurants, banquet rooms, and an indoor swimming pool.

The Only Foolproof Lawn Food!

NEW GOLDEN VIGORO

- Won't burn even if applied double strength to wet grass... and you don't have to water it in. (The Canada Patent proves it)
- Gives grass everything it needs except sun, air and water
- Feeds your lawn weeks after other lawn foods have given out
- Builds thick, springy turf because it feeds the roots, too
- And you don't need a textbook to get expert results

Lawns are to live on. If you really love your lawn feed it New Golden Vigoro.

Even a weekend "yard man" can get professional results with New Golden Vigoro. It's the only foolproof lawn food on the market. It won't burn.

You can apply New Golden Vigoro any time of the day, year or season... to any kind of lawn. It won't burn.

You can use it before or after the grass has started to grow. It won't burn.

You can even apply it double strength to wet grass without watering-in or raking—and it won't burn.

The proof is in the Canada Patent—New Golden Vigoro is the only complete, nonburning plant food ever made. Every ingredient is nonburning. It's the one plant food that can't be copied.

It eliminates guesswork. Two short sentences on the bag—printed in large, readable type—tell you everything you need to know to use it.

One feeding with New Golden Vigoro gives your grass every nutrient it needs from the soil except air and water. No extras needed.

It lasts up to four times longer than other plant foods applied at the same rate.

Put it on once and it keeps feeding your lawn for weeks after other lawns have started to starve.

New Golden Vigoro feeds the roots deep in the soil, not just the top. It builds up the rugged root system you need to get a turf that feels springy under foot.

Down-to-earth prices, too. Get New Golden Vigoro at your favorite hardware, department store or garden-supply centre. And get set to enjoy a lush, lovely lawn all summer long.

CAREER ALMOST ENDED FOR HIGH JUMP KING

BOSTON (AP)—John Thomas, world champion high jumper and the first athlete ever to leap seven feet indoors, nearly ended his athletic career accidentally Tuesday.

The 18-year-old Boston University freshman jammed his left foot between a slowly-moving elevator and the elevator shaft in a university building.

He was operated on and doctors reported he would have to forego athletics for eight to 12 weeks. "Although several tendons and nerves were exposed by the injury, none was found to be lacerated," Dr. Chester Howe said.

The youngster's post-operative condition was good and X-rays showed no broken bones.

SPORTS DIARY

BY

Jimmy Cannon

CLEARWATER, Fla.—There comes a time when even the bravest loser gives up. It is not cowardice, but an acceptance of the truth. The ingenu who can't get a part, after being praised by the critics in her first show, goes back where she came from and marries the hometown boy.

RICHIE ASHBURN

know they're losers, but they can't admit it publicly. This is their living and even an eighth-place team in a big league pays well.

Being ballplayers makes them celebrities even if the kids who ask them for their autographs often don't know their names until they see their signatures. Occasionally, there is a television spot, but only Richie Ashburn and Robin Roberts are solicited for the Ed Sullivan Show, and that's two hundred and fifty bucks for taking a bow from the audience. Anyone of them can free-load every night of the week if they'll stand on their feet and make a talk at boys' club banquets. It is better than playing in the minors, and that's where a lot of them would be if they were with another club.

So, in a way, they're very lucky. Other men toil harder and longer at meaner tasks for less money. It would amuse anyone working in a plant or a factory, in a mine or on a farm, if you regarded them with pity. But they're ballplayers and, together on a field as a team, they're bores who are paid to be entertaining.

Except for Richie Ashburn, who led the league in batting last season, Robin Roberts, an historic pitcher, and Harry Anderson, a reliable hitter, they are seldom exciting. It is up to John Quinn, their new general manager, who made the Braves champions, to build a new team on the debris of this parody of a big league club. It will be a long, hard job.

They live in a slum of baseball which is owned by Robert R. M. Carpenter Jr., who is a millionaire out of the DuPont tribe. He isn't a stingy guy either because Herb Pennock spent a lot of his money on bonuses on the kids who won the pennant in 1950. They didn't make it until the last day and they seemed to be a breed of toy athletes as the Yankees beat them in four straight games. The manager, who handled them in the brief season of their prime, Eddie Sawyer, is back. He can't do any more than Mayo Smith, now with Cincinnati, who was fired last year in mid-season because they fell through the league.

Some who cashed a World Series cheque in '50 are still there. You must skip Roberts and Ashburn, but the rest of them are relics of a glorious year, sentimentally valuable, but practically useless as performers. Only Ashburn still holds down a steady position, and it doesn't take much to wear a regular shift on the Phillies. Gene Freese, who hit .249 last year, has shoved Willie Jones off first base.

It is doubtful if Stan Lopata will do much catching now that Valtzy Thomas has been brought from the Giants. Granny Hamner, who tried it as a pitcher for a while, is still there. He's an extra infielder now.

Only the pitching hasn't a last-place taint. They have guys such as Roberts, Curt Simmons, Ruben Gomez, Ray Sempach and Don Cardwell to work in turn as starting pitchers. If they get into trouble, Sawyer has Dick Meyer and Dick Farrell who, if he gets back the stuff he had in '57, can throw a lot of fast-ball strikes. But they won't get these guys runs because they can't hit. Their fielding is erratic and they rarely come up with the spectacular play to end a big inning.

All of them, from the pitcher with the useless arm to Sawyer, tell you they have improved. I asked the manager what impressed him most about his team.

"Their attitude," he said. "They want to win."

The other seven teams in the National League have the same ambition. They also have better players.

Coach Willie Hamilton was given a pleasing taste of the potential strength of the Victoria entry in the Pacific Coast Soccer League Tuesday night at Royal Athletic Park.

The occasion was a test match between the team Probables and Possibles, in which

JBAAs Teams Defend Titles

James Bay Athletic Association rugby teams will be defending a pair of city championships Saturday at MacDonald Park, starting at 2:30 p.m.

The first division Bays will tangle with perennial rivals, Oak Bay Wanderers, in the feature game in the first game of a two-game, total-point series for the Barnard Cup.

Bay seconds will meet Victoria College Vikings in a sudden-death, second division match.

Tuesday, College wound up their regular action with a 6-0 victory over HMCS Venture at Carnarvon Park. Russ Chambers scored an unconverted try and a field goal for the winners.

Lewis Strikes Out But is Still at Bat

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI)—J. Norman Lewis, ousted as attorney for the major league baseball players as the result of a drive apparently headed by Phil's pitcher Robin Roberts, insisted today, "this is not my exit from baseball."

Lewis, first retained by the players in May, 1953, reached the end of that arrangement Tuesday when a majority of the 16 player representatives voted not to renew his current one-year contract when it ends on March 31.

The attorney got the word directly from Roberts, who, United Press International learned, has been spearheading an anti-Lewis movement for three years, assisted by catcher Sherman Lollar of the Chicago White Sox.

"The answer is 'No,' Norman," Roberts told Lewis when the representatives ended a 30-minute meeting on the subject. "They voted not to retain you."

Lewis, who indicated without specifically saying so that he feels Roberts has acted in the interests of the big league club owners, openly indicated coolness toward the Phillies' star when he observed:

"I feel a sense of deep satisfaction at the gains I helped to achieve for major league players, and I believe they are appreciated by all the players except, perhaps Robin Roberts."

But the attorney added, "I don't feel I wish to get into any controversy, and this definitely is not my exit from baseball."

At present Lewis still represents the International League Players' Association, and in addition there are two minor court cases pending action which he expects to be wound up by the end of the summer.

No Scrap Pile Yet For Bruin Goalie

Harry Lumley Thwarts Leafs In First Game

BOSTON (CP)—Harry Lumley, an old pro who was headed for hockey's scrap heap last season, returned to the Stanley Cup playoffs Tuesday night with all the class that made him one of the game's great goaltenders.

Big Lum frustrated Toronto Maple Leafs as Boston Bruins took a 5-1 victory in the opening game of their best-of-seven semi-final series.

The 32-year-old veteran of 14 National Hockey League campaigns stunned Leafs with some amazing acrobatics. Inspired by his work, Bruins scored three goals to break a 1-1 tie in the second period and humble the high-flying Leafs, who earned a playoff berth with five straight victories in the regular season's last eight days.

How good was he? Rarely better.

NO ONE BETTER

Said Leaf coach Punch Imlach: "You couldn't put the puck by the big guy even if you had a gun. No goalie in hockey could have done a better job."

"Lum played himself one heck of a game," said Boston coach Milt Schmidt. "He came up with the big saves."

While Lumley, cast aside by Leafs as a washed-up operator three years ago, was looking after Leaf attackers, the Bruins scoring was handled by Gerry Toppazzini, Leo Labine, Vic Stasiuk, Larry Leach and Don McKenney. Rightwinger Gerry Ehman picked up Leafs' only goal on a power play in the second period.

The teams clash in the second game here Thursday night.

Lumley's exceptional stops came shortly after Leafs had deadlocked the score on Ehman's 15-foot blast in front of the Boston goal at 6:07 of the second period.

AMAZING STOPS

Centre Bobby Pulford, who was only seven when Harry turned professional in 1943, broke away and blazed in alone on the six-foot-one Bruin netminder. His shot headed for the upper corner, but Lumley managed to get his arm up in time to deflect it into the crowd.

Labine then put Boston in front 2-1 by jamming the puck past Leaf goaltender Johnny Bower at 10:53.

Seconds later Frank Mahovich, a 22-goal man in the regular season, streaked in on Lumley. He rifled a low shot from about five feet. Harry spread his feet wide and scissored the puck as he fell. The crowd of 13,909 roared approval for a full minute.

OLMSTEAD HURT

Leafs ran into trouble in the second period when leftwinger Bert Olmstead, one of Leafs' most dependable men, suffered a severe "charley horse" in his left thigh. He was replaced by Gary Collins, a speedster up from New Westminster Royals of the Western Hockey League for the series.

Leafs' team doctors said Olmstead should be ready for Thursday's game.

Rocket's Touch Still in Gloves

MONTREAL (CP)—Marcel Bonin, who never had scored a goal in Stanley Cup play, hammered in two Tuesday night to give Montreal Canadiens a 4-2 win over Chicago Black Hawks in the first game of their best-of-seven semifinal.

The little winger wore the gloves of the famous Maurice "Rocket" Richard throughout the game.

The Rocket, still on the shelf from a broken bone injury suffered in Chicago last January, walked into the room after the game to congratulate his teammates.

Macs' Speed Tames Tigers

BRIGHTON, England (AP)—Canada's world hockey champions Tuesday night defeated Brighton Tigers 8-4.

The Canadians are en route home after winning the world title at Prague, Czechoslovakia.

Moe Menard scored three goals for the Canadians, Floyd Crawford two and Dennis Boucher two. Billy Graham got the eighth goal.

GOYETTE INJURED

Canadians, lost Phil Goyette early in the second period and the lightweight centre is a doubtful starter for Thursday's game. He suffered a deep cut in his left foot, near the Achilles tendon, and six stitches were needed. It was believed there was no fracture.

Coach Rudy Pilous of the Hawks, found no fault with his underdog club and had no excuses. "We didn't figure we would be knocking off Canadians four straight and we're not going to give up because we lost the first game," he said.

'Tired Elbow' Fresh Enough To Serve Up Five-Hit Win

By Associated Press

Don Drysdale's "tired elbow" is wide awake and throwing.

It never took a rest Tuesday as the 22-year-old Los Angeles right-hander pitched nine shut-out innings and the Dodgers upped their exhibition record to 10-3, best in the majors.

The Philadelphia Phils were the victims of Drysdale's 1.0 performance, a five-hitter. The Phils got only two runners past first base after the fourth inning, and although the Dodgers got only three hits, a double by Wally Moon and a triple by Jim Gentile in the fourth inning were enough.

It was the first complete spring game by a Dodger pitcher in three years.

TIGERS STOPPED

Milwaukee's Warren Spahn was as sharp as Drysdale Tuesday, allowing only five hits in a 3-0 victory over St. Louis at St. Petersburg. Ed Haas helped with a first-inning, lead-off homer.

Pittsburgh's Vern Law stopped the improved Detroit Tigers 3-1, as Rocky Nelson, the perennial minor leaguer, chipped in with three hits, including a home run. One of four hits off Law was a homer by Gail Harris.

Baltimore shelled Kansas City 11-3 with 14 hits, including homers by Gus Triandos and Willie Tasby.

Washington hung the seventh straight defeat on Cincinnati, 7-6. Frank Robinson hit a grand-slam homer in the Reds' six-run eighth after the Senators had finished scoring.

Boston Red Sox took a 10-4 beating from the San Francisco Giants, who came up with seven innings of five-hit work by Jack Sanford.

Ernie Banks doubled home two runs in an eighth-inning pinch-hitter role as the Chicago Cubs broke a tie and defeated Cleveland 4-2. Rookie Joe Scaffernoth shut out the Indians on four hits for seven innings.

New York Yankees landed on rookie Rodolfo Arias of Chicago White Sox for five runs on seven hits in the fifth inning, the last five in a row. The Yanks won it 6-4 and ended a string of 10 scoreless innings by Arias.

Times Tee Party is Never a Picnic

By ERNIE FEDORUK

Four former champions and eight professionals—the largest number of play-for-pay shotmakers ever entered in the event—head the list of entrants in The Times Island Open golf tournament.

The popular tee party, the first major event on the 1959 fixture list, gets under way Sunday, April 5, with the qualifying round at picturesque Victoria Golf Club.

And once again it is going to be anybody's tournament. City golfers who walked off with the coveted Times Trophy in each of the last four years top the entry list. They are defending champion Laurie Carroll, 29-year-old Oak Bay pro; Joe Briggs, the 1957 champ, who won the trophy for Gorge Vale but who now is playing out of Uplands; Laurie Kerr, the 1956 winner from Colwood, and Bill McColl, the 1955 champ, who also is a member of the Colwood club.

Carroll, of course, heads the list of professionals. The popular city-born product became the first pro to win the Open crown when he defeated Gorge Vale's John Merriman, 6 and 5, in last year's final.

The tournament's record list of pros also includes Bill

LAURIE CARROLL

Court of Colwood, the 1957 finalist; veteran Joe Pryke of Gorge Vale; Ron Cuth and big Art Donaldson, both unattached pros, who play out of Gorge Vale; Mel Carlow, assistant pro at the Gorge; Roy Chappelle, Oak Bay assistant pro, and Ron MacLeod.

MacLeod, finalist in 1951, will represent Qualicum Beach Golf Club. Professional at Jasper Park Lodge but a native of Victoria, the blond belter set a record at Jasper last summer when he fired a 64. He has been playing regularly on Victoria courses this winter, especially at Oak Bay, and has consistently fired sub-par rounds. Last Sunday, for example, he toured the Oak Bay course in a two-under-par 67.

In addition to the former champions and the pros, entries have come in from other top-notch amateurs, including Merriman, Vince Clarkson of Colwood, 1956 finalist; Gord Fellow of Uplands, last year's medalist; Dr. George Bigelow of Oak Bay, and juniors Bill Wakeham, Al MacLeod, Alan Manson and Dick Muir.

Indeed, when you scan down the complete list of entries, it is easy to see that this tee party, as usual, "ain't going to be a picnic."

Birmingham Back Stricken by Polio

BIRMINGHAM, Eng. (Reuters)—Birmingham City, English First Division soccer club, cancelled all immediate games Tuesday, closed the stadium and sent their players home after one of them became ill with poliomyelitis.

English international fullback Jeff Hall, 29, was taken to an isolation hospital in critical condition. An operation was performed to ease his breathing and a second was planned.

The English Football League, acting on the advice of the Birmingham health authorities, ordered the club to postpone its three First Division games at Easter weekend.

Horse Racing Season Boosted by Two Days

A 117-day season of flat and harness racing was approved for this summer in British Columbia in an order-in-council released Tuesday by the B.C. government.

Standley Proved His Right To League Scoring Trophy

Neil Standley turned into a one-man Navy gang Tuesday night at Memorial Arena as the Tars wound up the Victoria Commercial Hockey League season whipping Vics, 11-4, in the final game of the playoffs.

Standley, who fired five goals for Navy and picked up an assist Tuesday, was presented with the Hall & Co. Trophy, as the top scorer in regular season play, at between-period ceremonies.

Navy was awarded the Cross Meat Market Trophy as league champions and the Hocking & Forbes Trophy as playoff champions.

TWO FOR BOND
Johnny Bond and Roy Derry tallied twice each for the winners while Reddin and Cook notched singles.

For Vics, who trailed 6-1 after one period and 11-2 after two, Fowler, Jay, Makowski and Wilson handled the scoring.

Don Hamilton again had a busy evening in the Vics goal, kicking out 39 of 50 shots levelled at him. Rutherford and Jones combined to safely handle 24 for Navy.

Montclairs One Game from Crown

TORONTO (CP)—Hamilton CYO Montclairs could wrap up their best-of-five Canadian junior basketball championship final with Vancouver YMCA tonight.

Montclairs go into the third game of the series with a 2-0 lead after staving off a desperate last-quarter rally and defeating Vancouver, 52-46, Tuesday night.

Both clubs worked a bad game out of their systems Tuesday night. Vancouver, just a little worse than Hamilton, trailed 12-5 at the end of the first quarter, 26-18 at the half and 41-31 at the three-quarters before they overcame their erratic shooting.

Ottawa Asked to Curb Part-Time Fishermen

VANCOUVER (CP) — British Columbia fishermen will ask for federal government action to relieve a "drastic overcrowding" in their industry.

Delegates at the United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union (Ind.) convention here Monday agreed that the issuing of commercial fishing licences should be restricted to 7,500 to protect the full-time fisherman.

The union proposes the government:

Restrict licences to 1958 holders, providing they fished a minimum of six weeks. Issue no new licences until the number of licensed fishermen stands at 7,500.

Place new applicants for licences on a public waiting list to be operated on a first-come, first-served basis.

CLAUDE JODOIN
... Red-baiter?

UNION WANTS TO BE AFFILIATED WITH CLC

Fishermen Deny Communist Label

VANCOUVER (CP) — The 7,500-strong United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union (Ind.), says claims that it is Communist-dominated are designed to keep it out of the Canadian Labor Congress.

In its annual officers' report, presented to the union's annual meeting here this week, says the Communist charge is a "false label".

It denounces CLC president Claude Jodoin for what it calls "Red baiting".

The report says UFAWU secretary Homer Stevens met with Mr. Jodoin last October to discuss the union's affiliation with the CLC.

"He was affable, but spent a good deal of time either Red-baiting or attempting to involve your secretary in political argument," the report reads.

Mr. Jodoin said one of two conditions had to be fulfilled before the UFAWU could be admitted to the CLC.

One was that "certain officers" had to be thrown out. Failing that, these unnamed officers had to renounce their political opinions.

"The excuse used is that of 'Communist domination' which is a false label," the report says. "We have offered to open our doors to a properly appointed CLC committee. They will find... our union's democracy is second to none in Canada. This is why the false assertions are never backed up by proper investigation."

All invitations to the CLC to examine the structure of the UFAWU have been rejected, it claims.

The UFAWU was suspended from the old Trades and Labor Congress of Canada seven years ago because it supported the Communists' political line. It has been unable to gain admittance into the CLC following the labor merger in 1956.

ARCHBISHOP BEGINS 5-WEEK ASIAN TOUR

KARACHI, Pakistan (Reuters) — The Archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, arrived Tuesday by air from London to start a five-week tour that will include India, Japan, South Korea and Hong Kong.

Red Cross Drive Near Half-Way

Canadian Red Cross drive for $79,000 has reached 41 per cent of its goal.

Residents are "coming through wonderfully" said campaign chairman T. Ledley McMaster following an audit showing $32,254 received from Greater Victoria donors.

"The need is urgent," he said, "without the support of the public we could not continue giving the aid we are noted for."

Many returns are not yet in from canvassers and officials are still optimistic that the month-long annual campaign will reach its goal.

Donations may be sent to the Canadian Red Cross Society, 1046 Fort St.

New Outbreak of Violence Feared in Nfld. Dispute

CORNER BROOK, Nfld. (CP) — The Newfoundland Brotherhood of Woods-Workers (Ind.) will begin negotiations here in about 10 days with Bowater's Pulp & Paper Mills for a working agreement, covering western Newfoundland loggers, it was learned today.

Max Lane, a Liberal member of the Newfoundland legislature and president of the brotherhood, confirmed the report in an interview.

Peter Fudge, president of the Corner Brook and District

Chant Probe On Education Here Monday

The Chant royal commission on education is coming to Victoria next Monday to sit in on the four-day annual departmental conference of school officials, superintendents and inspectors in the Legislative Buildings.

The three commissioners are Dean S. N. F. Chant, J. E. Liersch and R. P. Walrod.

A third set of Vancouver hearings to handle the heavy flow of briefs has been set for the week of April 27. So far 299 briefs have been received and more are expected.

The commission will meet at Penticton April 8, Kelowna April 9 and Vernon April 10. Dates for final hearings for up-coast centres including Kitimat, Prince Rupert and Terrace have yet to be set.

High School Students To Be Taught Russian

OTTAWA (CP)—About 20 students of outstanding language ability will be taught Russian at Ottawa's Nepean High School beginning next September. A three-year course starting in grade 10 is planned.

Labor Council (CLC), immediately telegraphed CLC president Claude Jodoin and Prime Minister Diefenbaker.

Mr. Fudge urged Mr. Diefenbaker to make certain a "Newfoundland government sponsored union does not precipitate violence by using police in any mass invasion of woods" in western Newfoundland.

Today's announcement was the first official indication that organization would begin in western Newfoundland.

Mr. Fudge's reference to police apparently applied to a reinforced RCMP detachment moved into Grand Falls after violence was reported along picket lines. A Newfoundland policeman was fatally injured in a clash between police and pickets earlier this month near Grand Falls.

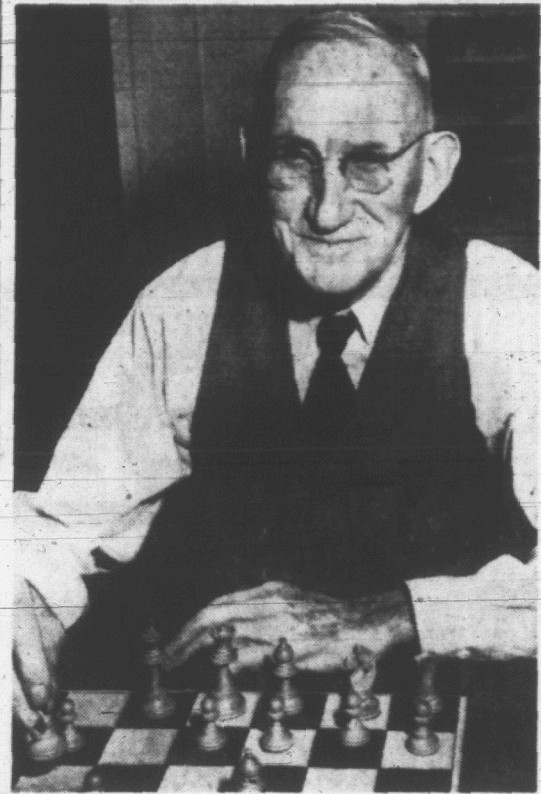

Mr. Fudge said in a telegram to Mr. Jodoin that west coast unions are "concerned" because "government-sponsored union President Lane has just announced he will shortly invade western Newfoundland woods to repeat his action in central Newfoundland."

There is no strike against Bowaters but five representatives of international unions in this area say "it is public knowledge that the loggers of Bowaters are taking part in an unofficial work stoppage." IWA field director Jeff Hall says contractors are having trouble finding loggers willing to work.

In a statement today five international union representatives said they were "shocked to hear Mr. Lane is announcing that he will shortly bring his state union conscripts into western Newfoundland."

"We hope wiser counsel will prevail and that we can be spared the horror that descended upon central Newfoundland after Mr. Lane acted on previous boasts in the area."

STAN BAKER... your move?

HE CURLS, BOWLS TOO

Dreamed Way To Chess Title

By TONY DICKASON

Stan Baker has a devotion to chess which rivals Romeo's to his girl friend, Julie.

Stuck on moves, he'll awaken during nights with the solution.

Then, and Mrs. Baker is the confident on this, he'll move quickly to the chess board in the dining room, clad still in pyjamas, and cinch the decision.

G. Stanley Baker, 74, of 442 Superior Street, is the recently announced winner of "section eight" of the 1959 B.C. correspondence chess tournament.

This means he is now eligible to play for the championship against other section winners.

LONG, LONG PULL

It has been a series of long, but not tedious, games.

Play started last October and has just ended in the current phase.

It meant six games in six months for Mr. Baker, who corresponded via four-cent post cards with his opponents in Vancouver, Terrace, Edson, Alta. (this player started in Abbotsford), Ladysmith and Salmon Arm.

To be eligible for the provincial stakes, he had to win all six.

"Some were easy." He beat one player in 13 moves; toughest took 61 moves.

ALL BY HIMSELF

Mr. Baker is not a nervous man—just about as controlled an individual that can be found.

He doesn't smoke. "I quit the chess club on account of the smoke around there."

Mrs. Baker said: "When he's concentrating, he doesn't even know if there is anyone else in the room."

Mr. Baker said "the game relaxes me."

"It's a wonderful game, one of the best."

He also indulges in lawn bowling and curling.

Mr. Baker made his first chess move in 1906 when on a survey job in Northern Ontario for the CNR. He took it up again after a long lapse, in 1944, the year after he retired here.

"I was a farmer and tinsmith." He plots ahead five or six moves, and "studies books on chess."

Mrs. Baker hasn't the slightest interest in the game.

'LOFTY, BACKWARD, ISOLATED'

Religion Tops Politics As Main Tibet Interest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rebellious Tibet is the loftiest, most backward and most isolated territory in the world.

It's good-humored people whose greatest national occupation is religious contemplation—dwell in valleys behind craggy peaks of the Himalayas on the south and the Kunlun Mountains on the north.

Its average elevation is almost 15,000 feet. It truly is the "roof of the world."

Visited through the centuries by only a few westerners, the country did not know even the wheel until recent years. Communication was mostly by caravan routes winding through 16,000-foot mountain passes. Arctic-like winds whip about the mountains and make the lot of the traveller a hard one.

Road Link Built

But since the invasion of the country in October, 1950, by a Communist Chinese army, a rough 1,000-mile road has been built from China's western Sinking province to Gartok in southwestern Tibet. Other roads now link northern Tibet with Gartok, and Lhasa, the capital, with the southwest.

Air service between central Tibet was established in 1957 between China and Lhasa.

The country is poor in agricultural production, but may be rich in minerals. For centuries its chief trade has been in musk, wool, furs and yak tails, used for Santa Claus beads. But in some Shangri-La-like valleys an almost lush climate permits the growing of pomegranates, wheat and barley.

In the seventh century, Tibet was a powerful kingdom and exacted tribute from China. But since the 17th century China has maintained a varying degree of control over the country.

Expelled in 1912

The Tibetans in effect expelled the Chinese in 1912, when Sun Yat-sen's revolution overthrew the Manchu dynasty. Under a face-saving arrangement, the Chinese Nationalist government maintained a commissioner-general and a few officers in Lhasa to preserve the letter of Chinese sovereignty, but the Chinese conceded the Tibetans autonomy over their internal affairs.

China exercised no military control over Tibet until the Communists invaded in 1950.

The 1,300,000 Tibetans, who imported their Buddhist religion from India, tend to devote their time to religion rather than industry, politics or war. Thousands of monks live in monasteries scattered throughout the country, and are the rulers of the country.

The Dalai Lama, the temporal and spiritual ruler, is believed to be the 14th reincarnation of Buddha. He was chosen for the role by monks in 1935, when he was five years old, on the basis of mysterious signs and portents which satisfied them that he was the reincarnation.

He was installed as the lama in 1940 in the nine-storey potola, or palace, which towers over the centre of Lhasa. China formally recognized his temporal and spiritual authority in 1951 in a treaty granting autonomous rights to Tibet but retaining control of external affairs and defence.

In the background, threatening the Dalai Lama's rule, however, is the Panchen Lama, regarded by rival monks as the real lama. He formerly lived in Sinking province of China and for a time was considered the Communists' favorite.

Sask. Gets Cocktail Bars, Pubs

By the Canadian Press

The Saskatchewan legislature gave third reading Tuesday to a bill allowing new liquor outlets in the province—the third prairie province to do so in as many years.

In the Ontario and Alberta Houses, the topic of liquor triggered debate and advice.

Saskatchewan's liquor bill, approving five new types of liquor outlets, including cocktail bars and beverage rooms, passed without objection. The CCF government said it will probably become law April 1.

One member remarked that many Saskatchewan residents prefer Ontario and Alberta beer and that fewer persons would drink liquor if the province's beer was better.

Liquor Commissioner W. H. Collings disclosed in the Ontario House that the liquor consumption per drinker in the province annually has increased to 26 bottles from 22 during the last 10 years.

Civil Service Waits Picket Law Opinion

Lawyer's report on the new provincial legislation prohibiting picketing of public buildings has still not been received, an official of the B.C. Government Employees' Association said today.

Ed O'Connor, association general secretary, said in view of the holiday weekend the report "probably won't be known until our executive meeting Tuesday."

Besides looking at the picketing legislation, the lawyer was also asked by the association to examine the legality of the government's strike-thwarting court injunction obtained on March 13.

Trapper Starved to Death

WATSON LAKE, Y.T. — An elderly trapper and prospector was found dead Monday in his isolated cabin on the Dease River, deep in the wilderness of northern British Columbia.

A search party, headed by RCMP officers from the Cassiar detachment found the body of Joseph Cassidy, 70, formerly of Telegraph Creek.

He apparently had been dead for three months or more.

A resident of the district for more than 30 years, Cassidy was last seen near Cassiar Dec. 9, 1958.

The search party found no food or firewood in the cabin. A signal, a piece of canvas on a pole, had been erected outside the lonely cabin, apparently in the hope of attracting passing aircraft.

Members of the search party believed the man's feet were frozen some time before Christmas, preventing him from gathering firewood or hiking the difficult 46 miles overland through the snow and mountains to Cassiar.

Death apparently was caused by starvation, search party members said.

GANG ARRESTED

VANCOUVER — Two juveniles and a 19-year-old youth have been arrested in connection with a gang attack on six persons. Police arrested the three after the six persons had been attacked with bicycle chains. Two of the victims were treated in hospital.

NEW SLOCAN BRIDGE

SLOCAN — A new bridge will be built in Silvertown, across Four-Mile Creek and sections of Highway No. 6 between Slocan and Silvertown will be hard-surfaced, the Slocan Board of Trade was told Tuesday night.

A hard surface on the Slocan-Silvertown highway would eliminate several miles of rough travel over a spectacular highway which rises 1,000 feet above Slocan Lake.

CITY NEEDS ISLAND

VANCOUVER — The whole of Sea Island must be acquired immediately for essential expansion of Vancouver International Airport over the next 20 years, Vancouver's technical planning board said Tuesday in a report to the city council.

The report also recommended a complete new highway to ring the island, at the mouth of the Fraser River, immediately south of Vancouver, and a new bridge over the river between the island and the mainland.

YOUTHS JAILED

BURNABY — Two teen-aged youths began a 15-day term at Oakalla prison farm Tuesday for shoplifting two packets of cigarettes valued at 58 cents.

Don Dragan, 18, and Klaus David, 19, were caught by a supermarket manager Monday and held for police.

They pleaded guilty to the theft charge and were fined $50 or in default 15 days in jail. The youths said they had no money and would serve the sentence.

RCMP said the youths had no previous record. Their parents said they had not known of the arrest or commitment to Oakalla until advised by a newspaper reporter. The two had left home Monday seeking work.

The RCMP officer who booked the youths into the cells at the police station said they were asked if they wanted to phone home and had said no. Police were obliged to phone parents of juveniles, but not of persons over 18.

Polio Kills Children

VIENNA (AP) — Six school children have died of polio in the last few days, it was disclosed Tuesday. Thirteen cases were reported, eight of them in one school, which has been closed. None of the dead had received full anti-polio treatment.

POWER BOARD MEETING SET

The first meeting of the new five-member B.C. Power Commission is expected to be held here in mid-April, soon after the arrival from New York of chairman Dr. Hugh Keenleyside.

Members of the new board are: Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan, who will serve as deputy chairman; Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williams; Edmonton chartered accountant Frederick A. Smith; and Trail engineer Arthur Lee.

Boy Killed by Dog

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP) — The body of a five-year-old boy was found in a shed with a chained, 80-pound Siberian husky, Tuesday, and coroner Hollis Fultz said the animal killed the boy. Billy Stillions apparently climbed into the shed through a hole used by the dog in entering and leaving the building.

Burgerbits

dog food!

And, penny for penny, Burgerbits gives him TWICE the nourishment of prime beef hamburger... at only HALF the cost to you!

Veterinarian-developed to maintain stamina and build strong, healthy bodies, Dr. Ballard's Burgerbits is a meatier dog food, a complete nutritionally balanced diet which, when compared to prime beef hamburger, gives your pet twice the nourishment:

- TWICE the proteins so essential to healthy growth and repair of body tissue.
- TWICE the vitamins—B₁, B₆, and Niacin... plus 3000 I.U. of Vitamin A and 1000 I.U. of Vitamin D (per lb.) not found in hamburger.
- TWICE the phosphorus and iron... essential for strong, healthy bones and teeth and for good red blood.

So easy to prepare—just mix with water, soup or milk! And Burgerbits actually conditions as it nourishes—for, besides providing a ready source of food energy, it conditions the system without scouring or binding.

Buy Burgerbits today at your favourite food store or pet shop.

U.S. School Children Goodwill Ambassadors

Forty Grade Six children from Eureka, California, today shared desks, books and lessons with their counterparts at Margaret Jenkins School, Victoria.

Students at Washington School, Eureka, the 11 and 12-year-old American youngsters actually raised $55 apiece to finance a three-day stay at the Empress Hotel.

They earned the money by baby-sitting, gardening, helping mother around the house and selling TV guides.

"I have never seen so much enthusiasm," their principal, Miss Elva Quarnheim, said. "They were simply thrilled at the idea of going to Canada and seeing how Canadian children to their schoolwork."

The youngsters travelled to Seattle by bus and then by charter plane to Pat Bay Airport, arriving late Tuesday evening. The trip was arranged by Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau.

They are accompanied by their principal, two Grade Six teachers and a nurse.

Sharp at 9 today they moved into the Grade Six classroom

at Margaret Jenkins School and crowded in beside Victoria youngsters of the same age—two to a desk.

All morning they shared social studies, arithmetic and reading under the instruction of John Jenkins, vice-principal of the school, while their own teachers, Mrs. Donna McGowan and Miss Ann Garner sat at the back of the room.

It was hard to distinguish the young Californians from the young Victorians. All looked bright and vivacious, neatly-dressed and seemingly attentive.

But one of the California

teachers, Mrs. McGowan, noticed a difference.

"The Victoria children are rather more formal than ours," she said. "I notice they stand up when a teacher addresses them and remain standing while answering questions."

"Our children do not stand up—they just raise their right hand when spoken to and remain seated. But, in general behavior and deportment, I don't think there is much to choose between them."

Mr. Jenkins of Margaret Jenkins said the Canadian and American youngsters seemed to have reached "about the same standard" in arithmetic and reading but the nature of their social studies was somewhat different.

In California Grade Six social studies are mainly concerned with North and South America and Hawaii. They study the United States in Grade Five.

Before coming to Victoria, however, the visiting youngsters received special instruction on Canada and British Columbia.

"They were so excited about the trip we had no difficulty interesting them in this work," Mrs. McGowan said.

One of the visitors, Paul Richardson, aged 12, was born in New Brunswick, Canada, and taken to California when he was five. He is now re-visiting Canada for the first time.

Several children remarked that Victoria was not so different from the United States as they expected.

"We like your Canadian flag," said 11-year-old Don Massagli, "and the Parliament Buildings are fine. But Victoria doesn't look so different from an American city."

Janyce Hinckley, 11, remarked that the Empress Hotel is "lovely but very quiet."

"I think the dignified atmosphere of the lounge has a restraining effect on them," said visiting teacher Miss Garner.

The visitors will go swimming at the Crystal Garden this afternoon and then make a sightseeing tour of the city with trips to the World's Tallest Totem pole in Beacon Hill Park and Craigdarroch Castle.

SHARING LESSONS at Margaret Jenkins School, Victoria, today were 40 lively Grade 6 students from Washington School, Eureka, Calif. In this happy group are Mrs. Donna McGowan, visiting teacher from Eureka; John Jenkins, vice-principal at Margaret Jenkins; Janice Oakley (left) of Victoria, and Janyce Hinckley from Eureka. VICTORIA, B.C., WEDNESDAY, MARCH 25, 1959 19

MONTE ROBERTS

There was a program on television the other night, a domestic situation comedy in which the wife makes the husband look exceedingly foolish.

In fact, the story line for this particular program was all about how the wife could make the husband do anything the wife wanted him to.

My Own Favorite Wife took a great interest in the program, and kept going "tsk, tsk," and clicking like a hen, and making other disapproving noises.

Even before the program was over, My Favorite Wife began making editorial comments.

"No wife," she said, "connives and plots and plans against her husband."

"Plots and plans, eh?" I said, striving to change the subject, "you may have a column idea there."

"No husband," MFW continued, firmly, "would let his wife push him around that way. Would he?"

"Would he what?" I said, feigning ignorance.

"Husbands are, the heads of the house," MFW said.

"Husbands make the decision, and it is up to the wife to follow them. Right or wrong. Right?"

"Right," I said, abandoning any attempt to put up an argument.

"Of course I'm right," MFW went on, "Mind you, there may be times when a wife knows a wee bit more about the facts in any given situation, and when this is the case, it is possible she may offer her husband a small amount of guidance."

"It is possible," I agreed.

MFW looked at me rather sharply, suspecting me, I'm afraid, of sarcasm. But she chose to continue without actively reprimanding me.

"Now, you take me, for instance," she went on, "I am not a bit like the wife in that television program, I never make you do what you want to do, do I?"

"No," I had to admit.

"Yes indeed," MFW summed up, "It is the wise wife who always—and invariably—lets her husband do exactly what she wants."

And I had to admit she was right.

$7,000 Fellowship For City Musician

Malcolm Hamilton, well-known Victoria pianist and organist, has won a $7,000 music fellowship.

The award was one of only two music fellowships made this year by the United States government.

Mr. Hamilton was unanimously nominated for the honor, without his knowledge, by the faculty of the University of Washington from which he graduated in 1955 as a harpsichordist.

The awards were based on nominations by colleges across the U.S.

The fellowship provides for a three-year course of study at the University of Washington, leading to a degree of Doctor of Philosophy in Musicology.

Mr. Hamilton, at present a French and English teacher at Lansdowne Junior High School and assistant-organist at First United Church, will leave for Seattle in September to begin his post-graduate study.

PLANS TO TEACH

He plans to teach music in one of the American universities when he obtains his doctorate.

Mr. Hamilton is well-known to Victoria and Seattle audiences through his performances on radio, television and the concert stage as a solo pianist and accompanist.

A son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hamilton, 2515 Beach Drive, he was educated at Sir James Douglas School, Victoria High School and Victoria College before obtaining his bachelor of arts degree at the University of Washington.

He also holds three other degrees: Licentiate of the Royal Schools of Music, conferred by the Royal Academy, London, Eng., in 1952; Associate of the Royal Conservatory of Toronto, conferred in 1953, and Associate of the American Guild of Organists, conferred in 1955.

LEARNED MUSIC HERE

He received his early piano training from Marjorie Tebo, Stanley Shale, Mary Wood and Mary Munn in Victoria.

While in Seattle, he studied harpsichord with Irene Bostwick and organ with Walter Eichinger. He was harpsichordist for the university's Collegium Musicum and assistant organist at St. Mark's Cathedral there.

Returning to Victoria in 1955, he enrolled in the Provincial Normal School and entered the teaching profession.

MALCOLM HAMILTON surprise award

Faithful to Carry Cross to Victoria

A walking pilgrimage, in which a replica of the Cross will be carried by groups of three pilgrims at a time, will start from Nanaimo Thursday evening and arrive at St. Andrew's Cathedral in Victoria on Easter Sunday at 11 a.m.

The pilgrimage, called Pacific Cross, will be made under sponsorship of the Newman and Newman Alumni Clubs of Victoria, and with the support of the Catholic Youth Organization of Greater Victoria.

30 Registered

At least 30 persons are prepared to take part, and others may join at the last minute.

It will begin after the evening Mass commemorating the Last Supper and the institution of the Holy Eucharist, set for 8:30 p.m. Thursday at Nanaimo.

After the replica of the Cross, nine feet long and six feet wide, has been blessed, the pilgrims will walk to Ladysmith, staying there for the night.

Friday morning they will walk to Duncan, hoping to arrive in time for the Mass of the Presanctified at St. Edmund's Church.

Start at Dawn

Leaving Duncan at first light Saturday, the party will cross the Malahat, then stop at the Church of Our Lady of the Holy Rosary at Langford for special services. They will leave Langford at dawn in order to reach the cathedral by 11 a.m.

The Cross will be carried horizontally by three persons at a time for 10 minutes, after which three others will take over. There will be a 10-minute pause each hour, and a longer pause after four hours for rest and a meal.

Before starting off again a short meditation will be given on one of the incidents of the Lord's journey to his crucifixion.

First in 1948

Pacific Cross is modelled after the Student Cross pilgrimage in England, now progressing from London to Norfolk, and first made in 1948.

Some pilgrims will walk all the way, while others will join for shorter periods. They will wear dress for walking in the prevailing weather conditions, and should bring eat ing and sleeping gear and personal necessities.

Final period for registration will be in St. Andrew's Cathedral basement hall tonight between 7 and 8 o'clock. Non-Catholics will be welcomed on the pilgrimage.

"It is a continuous prayer made not only with the mind and the heart, but also with the body," a sponsoring official said. It is hoped to make it an annual event.

Offers of assistance and donations toward the pilgrimage may be left at 838 Holham Street, Esquimalt.

Heavy Cutback In Buses Likely

Night and holiday bus schedules may be cut back between 20 and 30 per cent by B.C. Electric.

A company spokesman here said today the schedules are under review and the company probably will apply to the Greater Victoria municipalities within a month to effect curtailments in frequency of service.

He said the application would be similar to one made in Vancouver last month, where reductions of 20 to 30 per cent in night and holiday runs were involved.

If the municipalities do not agree to the changes, a Public Utilities Commission ruling will be sought. If there is agreement, the PUC still must approve the cutback.

This was the latest development in the furor following strong hints Tuesday by BCE president A. E. Grauer that the company plans to take steps to reduce its transportation service losses in Victoria.

Last year they totalled $470,000, much higher proportionately than the Vancouver transit deficit. Fares were increased to a basic 13 cents here and 15 cents in Vancouver during 1958.

Dr. H. L. Purdy, BCE executive vice-president, quashed immediate speculation that fare increases would be sought here to equalize the rates.

"We have no plans for a fare increase in Victoria," he said in Vancouver Tuesday night.

Meanwhile, civic leaders here and in Vancouver closed ranks in a solid opposition to a further hint by Mr. Grauer that the company may seek to eliminate a tax it pays municipalities for its franchises.

Overall payments on the franchises by the entire BCE transit system last year was $648,353, of which $25,432 went to Victoria.

Municipal heads maintained that the franchise tax was only fair compensation for use of municipal roads by the buses.

PRICE OF MONOPOLY

"They have a monopoly: that's the price they pay for it," retorted Esquimalt Reeve A. C. Wurtele. "What we want to know is why the B.C. Electric bus system is running in the red."

Mayor Percy Scurrell said the franchise tax is "only peanuts" compared with the BCE transit deficit. "It's such a small amount... it wouldn't really alleviate the situation, would it?"

He said elimination of the tax would be another form of subsidy to the company.

FEEDER LINES URGED

Both Mayor Scurrell and Reeve Wurtele argued BCE had not tried all venues of economy. They suggested that small foreign buses or station wagons should be used to provide feeder service to main routes, increasing frequency of service and attracting more traffic as well as cutting costs.

Oak Bay Reeve George Murdoch also supported the feeder suggestion and strongly opposed elimination of the franchise tax or increase in fares.

"I think someone could take over that bus service and make it pay," he added. "If they don't want to co-operate, then let them turn the business over to someone else."

Saanich Reeve George Chatterton said the municipalities would suffer if BCE dropped its transit service but he said an outside traffic expert should be brought in to make a thorough investigation before any changes in the service are made.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Lieut. Governor Frank Ross, on the advice of his doctors, will restrict his public activities for "a short time," an announcement from Government House said today.

The announcement said Mr. Ross is suffering from a recurrence of trouble in his right leg which has bothered him since he served in the First World War.

"He must restrict his activities for a short time, particularly where any standing is involved."

View Royal Garder Club will meet tonight at 8 in the View Royal Community Hall.

A meeting of the Kipling Society will be held tonight at 8 at 317 Cook Street.

A woodchopping accident nearly cost a Saanich man several toes when an axe cut completely through his foot Tuesday afternoon.

Robert Coley-Donahue, 30, of 4985 West Saanich, is in good condition at Jubilee Hospital today after an emergency operation.

The Capital Region Planning Board's master plan was approved in principle by public works committee Tuesday but a rider was attached requesting city council to obtain changes in the administration which would allow the city to alter the plan without consent of two-thirds of the member municipalities.

Rejection of an Esquimalt request for establishment of a sub-office in that municipality to collect water payments was recommended by city public works committee Tuesday. Esquimalt residents pay their bills at City Hall at present.

City public works committee Tuesday ordered a study made on feasibility of amending the traffic bylaw to permit cars to make left turns in mid-block.

Gerald Clark, London and European correspondent for the Montreal Star, and contributor to Weekend Magazine, who was to have spoken to Victoria Rotary Club Thursday, has been called back to Montreal due to a death in the family and will be unable to fulfill his speaking engagement.

The Esquimalt-based frigate New Waterford is due to rendezvous with the weather ship Stonetown, 900 miles out in the Pacific at 6 a.m. Thursday.

A scientist suffering from chronic seasickness will be transferred from the weather ship and brought to hospital here.

New Waterford is expected at home port late Saturday or early Sunday.

Condition of a 17-year-old Victoria girl hurt in an auto wreck on the Malahat Sunday night is reported to be "poor" by St. Joseph's Hospital today.

Linda Henley, 1722 Bay, has been unconscious since the crash which injured each of six teenagers riding in a car that went out of control, hit a rock bluff and overturned.

THURSDAY MEETINGS

Optimists: 12:10 p.m., Pacific Club.

Oak Bay Kiwanis: 6:15 p.m., Oak Bay Beach Hotel. An Easter message will be delivered by Rev. Alex Calder.

Fire in Newman's Grocery, 2201 Chambers, burned up a quantity of laundry and filled store and adjoining living quarters with smoke at 9:30 a.m. today.

Clothes hanging on a rack over a lighted gas stove apparently caught fire, burned the supporting ropes and dropped the rack to the kitchen floor, damaging ceiling and floor.

Greater Victoria's 20,000 school children begin a 10-day Easter vacation Thursday afternoon. Schools will close Easter Friday and reopen Monday, April 6.

Easter flowers and animals will be on display this weekend at Beacon Hill Park. Parks administrator W. H. Warren said some bunnies and a doe will be exhibited in the birdcage at the park. In addition, an ewe and two lambs have been placed in the deer pen.

Victoria College spring examinations begin April 14 in some education courses. Examinations in the remainder of the courses begin April 17 and end April 30.

Return Trip From Holiday Big Problem

It appears to be easier to leave Vancouver Island for Easter than to return.

This is because people are planning to leave Thursday, Friday, or even Saturday—but everyone seems to want to come back on Monday.

CPR today reported exceptionally heavy reservations for cars on the Vancouver-Nanaimo service Monday. "Late Monday ferries from Vancouver are pretty well booked up," he said. "Reservations can be had on earlier ferries."

Traffic off the island also will be heavy, and the CPR advises early reservations for cars.

EARLY BIRDS WIN

Black Ball Ferries, operating from Departure Bay to Horseshoe Bay, do not make reservations and operate on a "first come, first served" basis. Officials anticipate heavy business, especially on Monday.

Trans-Canada Air Lines likely will carry the lion's share of foot passengers. Over the five-day weekend, TCA anticipates carrying close to 7,000 passengers on 236 flights between Victoria and Vancouver.

Busiest period is expected to be Thursday, when 66 flights will be operated, 40 more than the regularly scheduled 26 daily flights.

Library to Close

Victoria Public Library will be closed Good Friday and Easter Monday. It will be open Saturday from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

DEDICATION SET APRIL 5

'Sloan Tree' to Honor Memory Of Late Jurist, Forest Arbiter

A spreading old Garry oak 50 yards south of the entrance to Victoria Golf Club will be dedicated April 5 as "The Sloan Tree," in memory of the late Hon. Gordon McG. Sloan.

Announcement was made today by officers of the Victoria Times which, with the consent of Mrs. Sloan and the Oak Bay council, has arranged for unveiling of a plaque with the inscription:

In memory of the late Hon. Gordon McG. Sloan—jurist, forester, servant of the people of British Columbia.

The tree—one which survived the recent road-widening project of the CIDC—was chosen because of its proximity to the late Mr. Sloan's home, and his close connection with trees during his lifetime.

At the 4 p.m., April 5 ceremony, Times publisher Stuart Keate will welcome guests, after which Reeve George Murdoch of Oak Bay will unveil the plaque and Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston will pay the memorial tribute.

Your Child's Name Written In Icing on Chocolate Egg

By PENNY SAVER

What fun! A personalized Easter egg! These are big and scrumptious for that sweet-toothed youngster (and what youngster hasn't a sweet tooth?). They are marshmallow-filled, chocolate covered, and decorated with colored icing trim and flowers. But what makes this an extra-special egg is that it has your little one's own name or nickname written in icing on the top!

If mum or daddy goes to the right store, a lady will write in icing any name they ask for, whether it be Susan, Mary or John!

Name is no extra cost on the 29-cent egg.

Have you all the little accessories that will make your little girl stand out as the prettiest one Easter Sunday morn? Nothing is so perky or so pretty to frame that imp-angel of a little girl than a saucy straw sailor hat with velvet streamers down the back.

The prettiest in town are made of nylon-like lace straw. They're very feminine and sturdy. Various shapes—rolled or straight brims. One sweet white straw has navy velvet ribbon piping around edge of brim and long velvet streamers. Others are in pastels. Little girls' hats are $1.98.

Perky little purses to hold church or Sunday school money are in matching straw, with a tiny nosegay of flowers on the lid. Some are the attractive and easy-to-manage, draw-string top style. Purses are 38 cents.

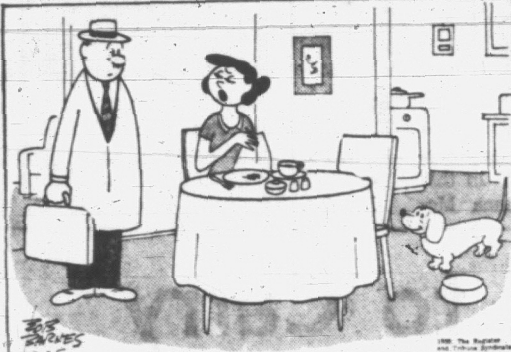

Gloves are a small item, perhaps, but a pair will make your little girl look really smart and dressed-up. Washable, stretch nylon crochet gloves in all children's sizes are 79 cents. Colors are navy, white and pastels.

For mummy, most flattering hat styles in fashion are the bandeau-hats made of masses of flower petals. I've found these petal hats in all colors, all kinds of petals, for 98 cents.

Smart three-quarter gloves for mother in the style with gathers at the wrist—in light and washable fabrics will perk up her Sunday outfit. A pair is $1.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Gestures and Mannerisms May Make Your Ineffectual

Our gestures and mannerisms have a terrific effect on the way we seem to others. As a matter of fact they often reflect inner nervousness and insecurity, or calm and poise.

Many mannerisms are just nervous habits. These may have been acquired during some time of strain or may be due to natural temperament. Whatever the cause, it is a good idea to check ourselves every once in a while because they are not attractive.

This is especially important for the underweight woman. She uses up tremendous amounts of energy in this way. A relaxed attitude will not only banish the mannerisms but will help with a gain in weight.

A few easy, graceful or enthusiastic gestures may enhance conversation, but these are far different from the nervous strutting of fingers on chair arms, from twitching about when sitting or exuberant leg swinging or nail biting.

The person who constantly indulges in gestures or extreme mannerisms is tiring and we are likely to be diverted from her conversation by her drawing room gymnastics. We all fall into some such habits unless we are careful.

As women grow older they may accumulate new mannerisms, postures and attitudes. The spine is not so flexible as it once was unless you have exercised regularly. The joints may be a little stiffer. You may have a touch of arthritis and your muscular co-ordination may not be so good. Investigate the mannerisms which these symptoms may produce. You need not give in to them wholeheartedly.

I discussed facial mannerisms not long ago in this column and suggested that they also are tiring. They too, age prematurely by creating lines in the forehead, between the eyes and at the corners of the eyes.

Eyes alight, a vivacious facial expression and a gallant, graceful carriage are to be coveted, but these can be eclipsed by a nervous screen or meaningless gestures.

Hams were never better than those on the market today. This one is made even tastier with peaches and a drizzle of honey.

Ham, Honeyed Peaches Easter Menu Treat

For many, ham for Easter has become a tradition. Today, of course, the favorite hams have been brown sugar-cured and cooked over hardwood fires. Also, they come from a lean type of hog, and are further trimmed so that there is less fat and waste.

On the short shank ham, a popular choice, much of the skin and excess fat have been removed. When buying this short shank type, or any bone-in ham, figure on about one-third pound per serving.

These short shank hams come in two styles: cook-before-eating or fully cooked.

For special occasions like Easter dinner, you'll want to give the ham a bit of dress-up.

HAM 'N' PEACHES

Bake a ham, either the cook-before-eating or the fully cooked kind, according to the directions on the wrapper. One-half hour before time indicated on the schedule, remove ham from oven. Pour off drippings. Remove shank skin if present. Cut fat into diamond shapes. Drizzle ¼ cup of honey over surface of ham. Place drained canned peach halves around ham. Spoon a teaspoonful of honey into each peach half. Return ham to oven to brown-glaze and complete baking. Serve ham with peaches.

Try this for a small family.

MAPLE-GLAZED HAM

One ready-to-eat half ham (6 to 8 pounds), whole cloves, 1 cup maple-blended syrup.

Place the ham fat-side up on rack in shallow baking pan. Heat in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 45 minutes. Then pour off drippings; remove the rind. Score fat and garnish with cloves. Pour ½ cup syrup over ham every 15 minutes; repeat twice. Then continue to bake until the ham is glazed and golden brown, about 15 minutes longer. Total baking time about 2 hours. If desired, serve syrup mixture as sauce over ham. Makes about 12 servings.

EASTER DINNER

Avocado and grapefruit cup, ham baked with peaches in honey, casserole of whipped potatoes with grated cheese, fresh asparagus with butter, new carrots, spring salad bowl, angel cake with fresh or frozen strawberries, coffee, tea, milk.

Shower Party

A shower was held recently at the Shelbourne Street home of Mrs. James Hogg, in honor of Miss Cynthia Carlsson, whose marriage takes place on Saturday. A corsage of rapture roses was presented to the honor guest and her mother, Mrs. J. O. Carlsson, and mother of the groom-elect, Mrs. W. W. Bell, received pink and yellow carnations. Gifts, concealed in a miniature church, were handed to the bride-elect by little Karen Martin. A silver bowl filled with roses, centred the refreshment table where Mrs. John Selkirk and Mrs. Robert Marshall presided. Other invited guests were Mrs. T. Frank, aunt of the bride-to-be; Mrs. Robert Edkins and Mrs. Duncan Craig of Nanos Bay, aunts of the groom-elect; Mrs. J. Keep-Fit Program Off To Good Start

First class in the recently organized YWCA keep-fit program at Langford was held last week with a large number of interested women present. Classes will continue each Wednesday for 10 weeks. They are being conducted by Miss Joan McKee, YWCA program worker and physical training director.

The program was instituted in response to a survey conducted by the Langford Recreation Commission to see if women in the area would like to attend such classes. Results were so encouraging announces Mrs. J. Peterson, secretary of the recreation group, "it is now hoped, under the advice and guidance of the YWCA to start other projects, including arts and crafts and organized youth activities in the community in the near future."

The YWCA executive director, Mrs. Phyllis Gravely, headed the inaugural meeting at which the keep-fit classes were organized.

DEAR ABBY ...

Irresistible Force!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Do you believe in "love at first sight?" A friend where I work fixed me up with a fellow she had been talking about for ages. On the first date I felt like I'd known him all my life and he said that's the feeling he had about me. Abby, I'm not cheap, but it was the most natural thing in the world for me to kiss him. I have seen him every night this week and I wonder if it's possible for someone to fall in love this fast? I am 21 and he is 24.

IN LOVE.

DEAR IN: Love is a "miracle" whereby two people become magnetized by each other. This can happen in a matter of minutes, but the true test of the depth and duration can be determined only by time. Make haste slowly.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of an old-maid neighbor of mine who is so man-hungry that she still has her mistletoe up over her front door? Whenever a man passes through she makes a big joke of it and grabs for him and kisses him a real good one. She is old enough to know better. Should I tell her that Christmas has passed?

NEXT-DOOR NEIGHBOR.

DEAR NEXT: A woman who is this hungry for kisses doesn't care when Christmas is. Just introduce her to a nice congenial gentleman who wouldn't mind playing Santa Claus.

DEAR ABBY: Our son has been overseas for two years. He is coming home soon. He was married just before he left. His wife says we are not to meet him. We plan to stay at home and do as she says, but are we doing right-by our son? Your advice will be our decision.

ANXIOUS MOTHER.

DEAR MOTHER: Stay at home and if your son asks you why you didn't meet him—tell him.

DEAR ABBY: I am the mother of a teen-aged girl, whose interests have strayed from school activities to "slumber parties" which are poorly chaperoned. These parties are held at a girl's house. There are 10 or 12 girls in the group. They are visited by anywhere from 12 to 30 boys all evening, until the wee hours of the morn. A party is planned for this Friday night and I told my daughter "NO!" I am being criticized (and even hated) by my own daughter and her friends for sticking to my decision, but I can see nothing but trouble ahead if

I don't. Am I too old-fashioned? JUST A MOTHER. DEAR JUST: You may be criticized (or even "hated") now but you will be thanked and loved later. Stick to your decision, Mother.

Marlene Davies Bride In Evening Ceremony

Church of Our Lord was the setting for an evening wedding recently, when June Marlene, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. Davies of Granite Street, became the bride of Bernard Allan Barber, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Barber, of Salt Spring Island.

Bishop D. A. G. Ranklor conducted the service. Church was decorated with baskets of spring flowers. Mrs. L. Jones, who sang at the bride's parents' wedding, was soloist. She was accompanied by organist J. Ingram Smith.

Lace and tulle formed the lovely gown worn by Miss Davies. Fashioned in floor-length redingote style, gown had lace appliques over the skirt and bodice. Sleeves were lily point. Sequins and pearls were embroidered on the lace. A pearl and sequin coronet held her chapel-length veil and she carried a bouquet of red roses and stephanotis.

The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Mrs. C. Keown, matron of honor; Miss Sharon McInnis, bridesmaid, were dressed alike in pale blue waltz length gowns with pale blue feather bandeaux. They carried bouquets of pale blue and pink flowers.

Little Laura Jean Barnes was flower girl. She wore a pink nylon over taffeta frock, little white hat and she carried a basket of rose buds.

Best man was Charles Jenkins and ushers were Raymond Ker and Larry Walker.

A three-tier cake centred the bridal table at reception held in Holyrood House. It was flanked by white candles and tiny rose buds. George Barnes, uncle of the bride, proposed the toast.

Leaving on a wedding trip to Seattle, the new Mrs. Barber donned an emerald green and cobalt blue dress posed over taffeta. It was fashioned along Empire lines with floating panels at back. Her coat of cashmere was also in green and her accessories, beige.

A Thirty-Eighth Birthday

Charter members Mrs. M. Morry and Mrs. R. Panting cut cake at Victoria Chapter No. 25, Women of the Moose, which celebrated its 38th birthday at Dulcie's, 512 Fort Street, last Saturday evening.

Arrangements of daffodils, cherry blossoms and forsythia decorated the hall. Tables were centred with yellow and mauve candles in holders resembling Easter baskets and filled with multi-colored eggs. To complete the Easter motif, individual favors were colored egg shells filled with candies topped with an Easter chick and featuring the numerals "38."

Seventy-five members and friends sat down to dinner. Chaplain M. Kirkwood said grace; senior regent Mrs. C. Lokken was mistress of ceremonies and junior governor R. Vermiere gave birthday greetings from Loyal Order of Moose Lodge, No. 390.

Convener of arrangements, junior regent Mrs. A. Edwards welcomed guests. Her daughter, graduate regent Mrs. A. Hopley convened the decorations committee. Good wishes were extended to members of the Academy of Friendship, charter members, Maple Leaf Legion and Fellowship Degree. Following dinner, dancing was enjoyed.

LOUISE DAVIS

On Etiquette

Six is a crowd:

We live in a tiny apartment having a dinette table that seats but four people. A distant relative living in our city has parents who came here to visit her recently. These parents have been very kind to us in the past and, wanting to entertain them, we invited them to dinner and asked the daughter, her husband and four children to come afterwards. The daughter said that she was upset about our scandalous behaviour and poor manners and that we were no longer welcome at their home because we had the audacity to invite her parents and not her and her husband. They know the size of our apartment. Did I commit a social blunder by inviting only the parents to dinner and not their daughter and her husband?

Louise Davis answers:

I do think that you should have tried to squeeze in two more even by serving dinner buffet style or on trays in your living room. When house guests are being entertained, their host and hostess are invited too. If the space pinch would have been too tight, you and your husband could have taken the two couples to a restaurant, then returned to your apartment for the remainder of the evening.

Excitement in Wren's Post as Secretary in Buckingham Palace

LONDON (CP)—Every day Rosalee Auger of Winnipeg goes through a front gate at Buckingham Palace to her secretarial job in the press office. And every day the policeman on duty salutes her. "But it's purely out of courtesy," says Miss Auger, a pretty petty officer in the Royal Canadian Navy.

"Once in a while I realize where I'm working," says the fair-haired blue-eyed petty officer, "and I look around for someone to pinch me so that I'll wake up."

The Winnipeg Wren was working in the naval personnel office at Victoria, B.C., last December when she was informed of the London posting.

Miss Auger, who usually wears civilian clothes on the job, took up her duties in January. She assists Esmond Butler, assistant press secretary at the palace and first Canadian to become a member of the Queen's household staff.

The two Canadians are at the palace to help with arrangements for the visit of the Queen and Prince Philip to Canada this summer, when the Queen will open the St. Lawrence Seaway June 26.

When the royal couple depart from Britain on June 18, Miss Auger and Mr. Butler will go with them. Their appointments continue until the Canadian tour is completed.

Miss Auger, 25, has been in the navy seven years and regards her appointment in Britain as the best thing that ever happened to her.

PO Rosalee Auger

"I think a draft to London would have been the thrill of my life, but going to Buckingham Palace, well, words fail me!"

She was so surprised, all she could say was, "Do you mind if I have a chair?"

She was forbidden to say anything about the assignment until Buckingham Palace announced it. "So I had to go back to work and say nothing about it."

The palace announcement came three weeks later and then Miss Auger went to work in Ottawa for a week, before leaving for London.

"I hadn't used shorthand for four years but it was amazing how quickly it came back to me."

In London she lives with British Wrens in barracks in the Kensington area—and spends most of her free time sight-seeing, reading and doing leather-craft. Another important off-duty job is getting her wardrobe ready for the Canadian tour.

People working for the royal household are not permitted to talk about their work. Miss Auger says her job is "interesting and a wonderful experience."

"It's a great honor for the navy and an extremely great one for me."

Wash-and-Wear Fabrics a Boon

EDMONTON (CP)—Manufacturers are turning out fabrics and garments featuring qualities aimed at reducing the homemaker's "ironing-day blues."

Textile and garment makers have defined a wash-and-wear garment as "one that can be washed and worn again with little or no ironing throughout its expected life." They say the garment meets the consumer expectancy for durability, color fastness, shrinkage and construction characteristics.

Mrs. Joan Vanterpool, clothing specialist of the Alberta agriculture department, says there are three different types of wash-and-wear fabrics.

There are fabrics such as knitted goods and terry cloth so constructed as not to require ironing. There also are fabrics with wash and wearability built in by such fibres as dacron, orlon and acrilan.

Fabrics or garments may be made of blends of these synthetic fibres with the natural fibres, or be 100 per cent synthetic.

In the third type, fabrics can derive their wash-and-wear performance from chemical treatments after the cloth is woven.

Mrs. Vanterpool says for price the cheapest minimum-care garments are those of cotton or rayon treated with synthetic resin finish. She says this is being used more and more in women's dresses and men's shirts.

They cost half as much as similar articles made of dacron and cotton. But Mrs. Vanterpool warns, "bleach turns them yellow unless the resin finish is a non-chlorine retentive type."

IT'S GREAT TO VISIT THE HOME FOLKS (or the young folks)!

GO THE EASY WAY, AT TCA's LOW TOURIST FARES

Make this the year to look up family and friends, and enjoy the warm-hearted sort of holiday. It's fast, easy and comfortable when you fly TCA, and there are thrifty Tourist fares to all main centres across Canada. TCA serves no fewer than 38 points, from coast-to-coast. Remember, when you work out costs, that your TCA fare gets you there—no meal charges, no tipping!

FLY NOW—PAY LATER, if you wish. TCA's "Pay later" plan applies to any trip in Canada or to the United States where the fare (or total of fares, where several members of the family are travelling) amounts to $100 or more. Pay 10% down and budget the rest of the fare.

TCA FAMILY FARES apply on First Class services. Travel in the uncrowded mid-week period (12:01 p.m. Monday to 12:01 p.m. Thursday) and save money. The head of the family pays the regular First Class one-way fare, other members (including children up to 21) fly at half rate!

Greatest Blessing in the Home!

ENJOY THE CONVENIENCE OF HAVING PLENTY OF HOT WATER—AUTOMATICALLY!

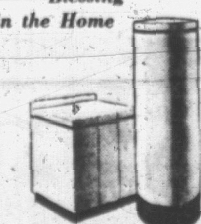

There's a tremendous difference between old-fashioned methods of heating water and a modern, automatic storage water heater. What a blessing it is to have all the clean hot water you need without the nuisance of lighting a fire. The water is always just right, too—thermostatically controlled so that it never gets dangerously over-heated. This convenience and safety cost less than you may think. The difference between an automatic storage water heater and what you are now putting up with, can make a lot of difference to life in your home. See your dealer or plumber.

ENJOY A HOT WATER SUPPLY THAT IS:

- 1 CONVENIENT
- 2 CLEAN
- 3 SAFE
- 4 EFFICIENT
- 5 ECONOMICAL

Girl's Death Brings Move To Bar Door-to-Door Sales

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP)—The brutal slaying of Candice Rogers, nine-year-old Spokane girl, prompted introduction of legislation Tuesday to prohibit night time door-to-door solicitation by children under 14 years of age.

Bodies Clue To Killer Of Four

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—Police are working on the theory that an itinerant sawmill worker may be the killer who wiped out a Virginia family of four.

Police Chief Wilbur Wade said that all three sites involved in the slayings—Mineral and Fredericksburg, Va., and Gambrills, Md.—are located in the vicinity of sawmills.

Carroll V. Jackson, Jr., 29-year-old feed truck driver, his wife and two daughters disappeared the night of last Jan. 11 as they drove to their Mineral home after a visit with relatives.

On March 5 the bodies of Jackson and his 18-month-old daughter, Janet, were found by two men gathering sawdust from a lumber mill pile, two miles west of Fredericksburg.

Saturday the 10-week search for members of the family came to an end when the bodies of Mrs. Jackson, 27, and her five-year-old daughter, Susan Ann, were uncovered in a shallow grave at Gambrills—about eight miles west of here.

Two teenage boys hunting near the army's Fort Meade reservation made the discovery.

Dr. Russell S. Fisher, Maryland's chief medical examiner, said Mrs. Jackson was beaten on the face and had been strangled with one of her nylon stockings. He said Susan had a fractured skull, probably caused by a blunt instrument.

University Fund Control Set Up

OTTAWA (CP)—The first of two new Canadian university organizations was formally established Monday as the Canadian Universities Foundation elected its first board of directors.

The foundation will administer the annual $25,000,000 in federal government grants and other funds committed to it for universities. Its establishment touches off a reorganization of the existing National Conference of Canadian Universities which has administered the federal grants since 1957.

With Dr. W. T. R. Flemington, president of Mount Allison University, Sackville, N.B., as chairman, Dr. F. C. James, McGill University president, was named vice-chairman of the 21-member foundation. Dr. Flemington also is president of the National Conference of Canadian Universities.

Board members include Dr. N. A. M. MacKenzie, president of the University of British Columbia.

With the foundation now launched, the next few months will see the organization of the National Conference of Canadian Universities and Colleges which is to inherit the functions of the still-existing national conference.

Power Board Boosts Wages

Last Tribute Paid Former Duncan Mayor

DUNCAN—Funeral services were held here today for George Henry Savage, 71, former mayor of the city who died in King's Daughters' Hospital Sunday.

Born in England, he had lived in Duncan 52 years, working first as a carpenter and later as proprietor of Cowichan Joinery.

He was a school trustee, alderman for several terms, and mayor from 1933 to 1936. He also was a past president of Duncan Rotary Club; past master of Temple Lodge AF & AM; past grand chancellor of the Grand Lodge of B.C. Knights of Pythias; and past chancellor of Maple Lodge 15, K of P, of Duncan.

Surviving are the widow, Lillian; one son, Warren, in Duncan; a daughter, Mrs. J. D. Smith, Oak Ridge, Ont.; two brothers, Edwin and James, Los Angeles; and two sisters, Mrs. James Duncan and Mrs. Fred Wise, Vancouver.

Sproat Lake Election

ALBERNI—New officers of Sproat Lake Ratepayers' Association are John Monruff, president; Al Greenhalgh, vice-president; Mrs. Armour Ford, secretary; Mrs. H. Howe, treasurer.

The increases, which are retroactive to January 1, represent an upward revision in the power commission's payroll of 3½ per cent.

Excluded from the salary changes were most engineers and those workers who are covered by an agreement with the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers' Union. The power commission's total work force is about 1,200.

$3,000 Damage As Home Burns

PORT ALBERNI (CP)—Damage to house and contents in a fire here Tuesday was estimated by Fire Chief William Venables, to be about $3,000.

A budgie bird was the only victim when the home of Magnus Maeland was filled with smoke from a fire which started near a woodpile in the basement. Smoke damage to furnishings was extensive.

Mr. Maeland was reported to have carried insurance on the building but not on the contents.

Church WA Gives $50 To Old Folks' Housing

MILL BAY—The Women's Auxiliary to Mill Bay United Church, at its March meeting, voted to donate $50 toward the new senior citizens' home in Victoria. Motion was made by Mrs. N. R. Johnston and seconded by Mrs. W. Armstrong.

MAYOR L. JORDON

Port Alberni Mill Rate Up 'Killing Duck'

PORT ALBERNI—Mayor Loran Jordan admitted to Port Alberni city council this week that he is a "dead duck."

Several weeks ago he announced the mill rate would be raised from its 1958 level of 34 mills "over my dead body."

He changed his mind when council accepted an auditor's report showing a deficit of $43,970 for 1958.

"I don't see how we can pick up last year's tab, meet rising costs of wages and materials, and maintain the same mill rate," he said. "And I'm a dead duck."

His dismay was tempered with pleasure at the fact that the meeting was the last to be held in the old city hall at Fifth and Argyle. Meeting next week will be in the new city hall, one block down Argyle Avenue.

DEEP-SEA SHIPS IN PORT

Victoria—Friesland, Peter Neilson, King Alexander, Lakemba, Cape Horn.
Nanaimo—Margaretta.
Crofton—Ravensholm.
Tahsis—Shinsei Maru V.
Lake Atlin.
Harmac—Dopgedyk.
Alberni—Kongsholm, Haldar Virik, Andros Citadel.

PORT ALBERNI (CP)—City council decided to ask the backing of the Union of B.C. Municipalities in a move to return traffic authority on their own streets to municipalities after city solicitor E. A. Dinsmore reported it is beyond the council's power to control pedestrian traffic.

Widowed Mother Of Twins Aided

By SUSIE McC. BIRD
Times Tofino Correspondent

TOFINO—Friends she has never heard of have rallied to the assistance of Mrs. Myrtle Jacobsen, 19, who gave birth earlier this month to the first twins ever born in Tofino General Hospital.

The young mother is the widow of David Jacobsen, missing and given up for dead since Dec. 6 last year, when the troller Centennial sank on the way to Ahousat from here.

It is believed the vessel struck a rock in Calmus Pass at the foot of the Catface Range and sank. Only trace ever found was a bit of wreck, age believed from the missing troller. There were three other men aboard with Jacobsen.

When two babies arrived instead of one, her friends helped immediately, but the most unexpected gift came from the Hudson's Bay Company in Vancouver.

Mrs. Margaret Mosher, head cook at the hospital, sent to the "Bay" for blankets and diapers. With her order she sent a request for soiled or shopworn baby garments, explaining the circumstances of her request.

Back came not only a big parcel, but a cheque for $225, which Mrs. Mosher forwarded to Mrs. Jacobsen, now resident at Ahousat.

Clayoquot Sound Branch 65, Canadian Legion, and its ladies' auxiliary, are sending merchandise scrip to Mrs. Jacobsen which will allow her to buy baby food at any grocery store in Tofino.

Gold Washed At Leechtown Shows Profit

LEECHTOWN—B. Filgate of Cobble Hill and two companions have started mining for gold here, and have reported washing four ounces in half an hour.

They are working at the old Leechtown mine, where they have staked claims and are building flumes.

Gold was first discovered on the Leech River in July, 1864, and in a few months workings produced $200,000. However, high water in the river made work impossible during the winter, and by the following spring most of the miners had left for a mainland strike.

Victoria Daily Times Silhouette Contest

No. 16

Silhouette Contest Rules

1. The Silhouette Contest is simple and easy to work. It consists of 60 silhouette drawings of widely known persons and 120 pictures. All you have to do is identify the silhouettes, not by name but by pairing them with pictures of the people you think are portrayed in the silhouettes. Each person shown in silhouette will be shown by picture but not necessarily on the same day. In addition there will be 60 pictures of other persons who will not be shown in silhouette drawings. Thus you will have 120 pictures from which to make your 60 selections to go with the 60 silhouettes. Keep the 60 left over pictures. They will be needed for the final Silhouette Scramble.

2. The contest starts on Saturday, March 7, 1959. Each day for 60 days one silhouette and two pictures will be printed. After you have paired a silhouette with a picture, paste or in some way fasten the matching pair on a single sheet of paper. All 60 sheets are to be fastened together in order and each sheet should bear your name.

3. The Times will award $750 in cash prizes to the winners. There are no entry fees. The prizes are:
1. $500
2. $100
3. $50
and four prizes of $25 each.

4. The contest is open to all residents of Vancouver Island with the exception of employees of the Times and Victoria Press Ltd. and members of their families. Not more than one prize will be awarded in any one immediate family.

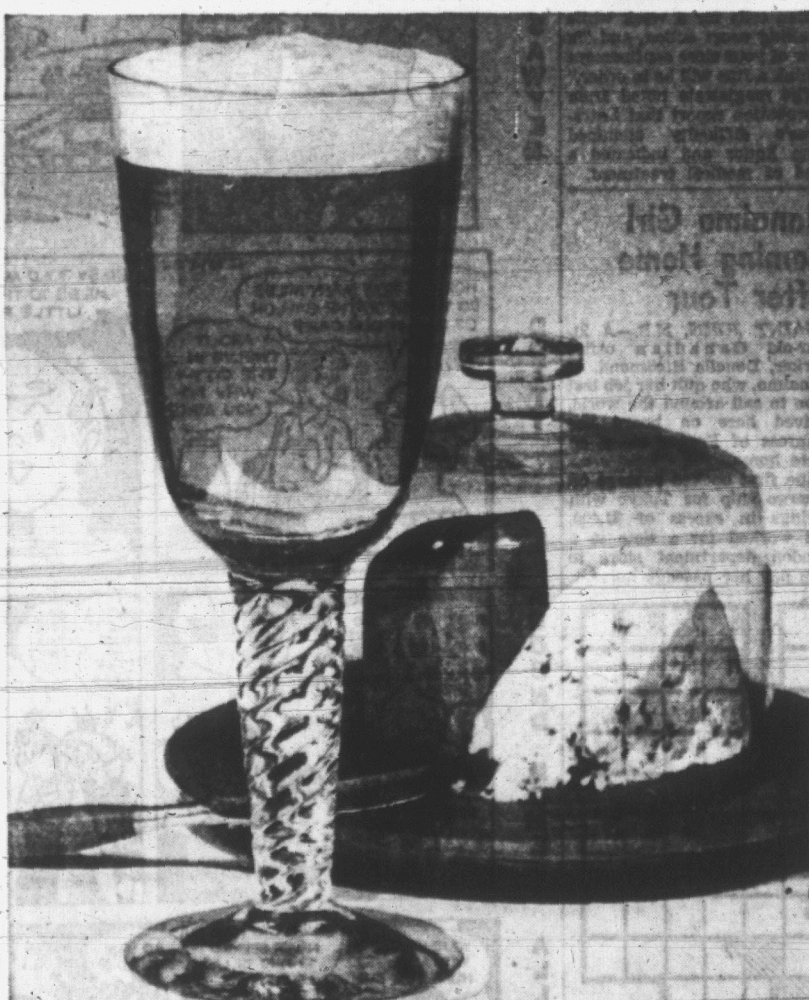

5. The final silhouette and pictures will appear on Saturday, May 16, and with this set will appear a master "score sheet" on which you must enter the numbers of your silhouette-picture combinations. Do not send in your entries until all silhouettes and pictures have been published.

6. The contestant giving the greatest number of the 60 regular silhouettes correctly solved is automatically the winner of the first prize. Second highest score gets second prize, and so on.

7. A Silhouette Scramble will be published with Silhouette No. 60. This will consist of a number of silhouettes which are to be identified from the 60 pictures left over from the regular contest. This Silhouette Scramble will be used by the judges ONLY in case of ties. If ties exist in the regular contest, then those contestants making the best scores in the Silhouette Scramble will be declared winners.

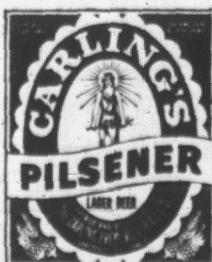

8. Address entries to Silhouette Contest, Victoria Daily Times, 2651 Douglas Street, Victoria. All entries must be postmarked not later than Monday, May 25. Entries must be sent with first class postage fully paid, since The Times cannot be responsible for entries delayed because of improper address or insufficient postage, or for any other reason not received at The Times in due time.

9. By entering the contest, the participant agrees to accept the decision of the judges as final.

SOLUTION FRIDAY

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a 10-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia.

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Diana Karrh, aged 10, of Tucson, Ariz., for her question:

Does Andy Answer Everybody's Question?

Andy selects only two questions each day and answers them in his column. Being a pixie, he can perform some unusual tricks. But even he could not answer all his mail. However, he is very willing to tell you how he selects the two questions he answers each day. Perhaps the information will help you improve your chances.

First of all, he would like to clear up a sad idea which arrived in the mail this week. One of his friends wrote, "I am sending another question because I guess my first one wasn't good enough." Now that was not so at all. Every question that comes into the mind of a young person is good enough to be answered. What's more, it deserves a full and

Age Must Be With Question

Many good questions get nowhere because the age is forgotten. This item may seem silly, but there is a reason for it. Andy writes each answer with the age of some person in mind. A very young person would be confused by big five-dollar words. So he tries to explain the subject matter in small one-dollar words. A teenager has mastered a number of five and even ten-dollar words. Andy would not be showing proper respect if he did not use some of these words when writing for a teenager. So age is important.

The trickiest problem is popular questions, the same ones asked by say, 20 people. If you know an easy way to select one from 20 equally good questions, please let Andy know. And please do not feel sad or mad if you were one of the 19 just-as-good not selected. You have other chances.

Finally, Andy has a request which is nothing to do with selections. Please do not send him sea shells, bugs and such to identify. They tend to get mashed in the mail and they cannot rate as questions to be answered in the column.

Andy sends a Hammond's Nature Atlas of America to Charles Don Coppedge, age 13, Dallas, Texas, for his question: How did the whooping crane get its name?

The whooping crane is named for his booming, trumpeting voice. He does his best vocalizing when in flight and the echoes from his call can be heard over the lonely marshland, after he has passed out of sight.

This rare, rangy fellow is the tallest of all North American birds. He stands over four feet on long spindly legs. His windpipe, the organ he uses to make his whooping calls, is five feet long. It is a pipe reaching down his long neck to the breastbone. There it coils around like a musical horn which, of course, it is.

ONLY THE EMUS KNEW; EGGS ROCK ZOO CHIEF

MANCHESTER, Eng. (AP)—Zoo superintendent W. W. Wilson thought he knew all there was to know about the dromecidae.

But Wilson thought his emus, of the family dromecidae and kin to the ostrich, were all boy emus.

He wrote several zoos offering to swap one or two of his boy emus for girl emus.

Then his emus began laying eggs for Easter. Or some of them did.

Now Wilson is afraid all his emus are girls.

NEW YORK—They were kidding TV star George de Witt backstage about announcing his "engagement" to Italian movie star Silvana Pampanini—and one friend said, "It was love at first headline."

George, who met Miss Pampanini in a Havana swimming pool (they accidentally bumped heads while swimming and he's been out of his about her since), insisted they're really engaged. "I've been married twice but this is the first time I was ever engaged," George announced... while rushing off for a date with a German beauty from Miami, Hildegarde Sheiba.

George, whose "Name That Tune" show is seen Monday, said he resents Steve Allen talking about going on the air Monday "because some nights are rather dull." Growled George: "Monday night isn't dull on TV but maybe if Steve Allen comes on, it will be."

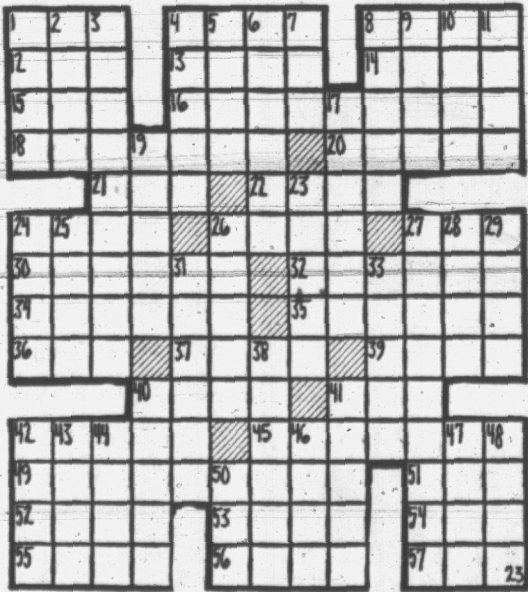

TALES I SHOULDN'T TELL: Top police brass are worried — it's whispered that many of them are on the Singing Sergeant's "payoff list" and that their names may come out... Wm. O'Dwyer's new romance is pretty Ohio-born model Betty Cooper, not long ago acquired around town by Quent Reynolds... Female impersonator T. C. Jones is so convincing at Le Cupidon that June Haver refused to believe she was a he. When T. C. whipped off his girlish wig to reveal a masculine bald pate, June blurted, "Now why would a woman want to shave her head?"

Nanette Fabray, showing her five-month-old son Jamie MacDougall's pictures around Sardi's, explained that his name was erroneously reported to be the Spanish "Jaime" in the newspapers — and that "Jaime" is pronounced "Hy-mie"... A fashion writer asked Marilyn Monroe, "Don't you think women ought to be thin—because clothes look better on thin women?" Marilyn cooed back, "Clothes aren't everything."

Mel Ferrer (who's in N.Y.) reports that Audrey Hepburn must still lie down in a station wagon which transports her over Mexican roads to shoot "The Unforgiven" each day. She rides, lying down, an hour going and an hour returning.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL: Beautiful dancer Julia Darvas-off-to-Las Vegas with her partner Nicky to play the Flamingo—revealed at a farewell party, that an admirer failed to send her flowers for her birthday — he sent her tropical fish and had them left in her bathtub. (All but one died)... Killing the rumor of bad feelings with Hermione Gingold, Polly Bergen surrendered her first floor dressing room to the British comedienne at the Alvin where they'll do "First Impressions."

'Race Against Time' for Buried Couple

BRALORNE, B.C. (CP) — A desperate battle against time is being fought here today in an effort to save the lives of a man and wife buried in a giant avalanche 200 yards long and 50 feet wide.

Believed trapped under the massive snow avalanche in McGillivray Pass, 15 miles southeast of Bralorne and 110 miles north of Vancouver, are immigrants Helmut Weinhold, 31, and his wife Crista, 26.

They were reported first as German immigrants but police said today they came from the alpine country in Austria. Their hometown in Europe was not immediately available.

Their tracks were found leading into the avalanche Tuesday afternoon.

RCMP officials here said it is possible the couple may be alive. They said trapped persons have survived eight days in an avalanche.

The couple may be lying huddled in an air pocket unable to move because of hundreds of tons of snow pressing on them from above.

"Conditions at the site of the avalanche are very poor," an RCMP officer said. "We are racing against time to get equipment and supplies to the rescue parties."

"During the day it is thawing at the 6,900-

foot level where the avalanche occurred," the officer said. "The heat makes the danger of further slides too great. We cannot risk losing lives."

Searchers are able to travel about 11 miles by wide-tired jeep to the scene and then must cover the remaining four miles on skis or snowshoes.

Weinhold, a miner in the Pioneer mine, and his wife, a nurse in Bralorne hospital, owned a cabin in the area and left it to inspect the snow conditions in the pass.

When they didn't return to the cabin by 3 p.m. a friend there decided to search for them.

The friend, identified only as Hugo, entered the pass and saw the avalanche but no trace of the tracks leaving it.

He skied back to the cabin and advised Bralorne RCMP who immediately launched a search.

Police said the Weinholds were warned of the snow condition and were advised to get off their skis. It is believed they were on foot when the avalanche hit them.

The couple are experienced skiers.

BOATS ARE BUSTING OUT ALL OVER

'Hurry-Up' on Project Boosted PC Estimates

By HAL MALONE

Lack of lead time—the period available between inception of a project and construction—was the main reason the B.C. Power Commission's mammoth Strathcona project cost $16,000,000 more than first estimates of $19,000,000.

Even at a final cost of $35,000,000 the end results clearly vindicate the original decision to proceed. Cost of energy produced by the Campbell River system—Strathcona, John Hart and Ladore Falls—will be 3.8 mills per kilowatt hour in an average water year.

No substitute development could be considered.

Any errors of judgment by the power commission did not contribute to the over-expenditure.

The same funds would have been needed, regardless of what estimated figures had been put forward.

These were the main points of a brief on the Strathcona project, presented to the Shrum-Royal Commission today by R. C. McMorde, acting chief engineer for the power commission.

In an 88-page brief, plus appendices, Mr. McMorde explained in minute detail reasons for the over-expenditure. Strathcona is the largest of 20 projects where power commission estimates were exceeded. It is the main project the Shrum-Royal Commission, set up by Premier Bennett, is investigating.

Throughout his submission, Mr. McMorde stressed "lead time" was the basic source of cost discrepancies at Strathcona.

Repeatedly he claimed the power commission "had no control over the circumstances which curtailed lead time"—time needed:

1. To carry out preliminary investigations.
2. To determine quantities with reasonable accuracy, and
3. To anticipate "inevitable modifications" in design as more extensive data was gathered.

"The Strathcona development had been visualized since 1945 in one form or another, as the final project to complete the utilization of power resources of the Campbell River system. It had held a place in the schedule of construction to meet load growth, downstream plant efficacy depended on its no substitute development could be considered."

The Strathcona project spanned seven years. Initiated in 1951, it wasn't commenced until 1955 due to exhaustive public enquiries and hearings. The generating station was completed in 1958, officially dedicated last fall.

The delays brought about by public outcries in the press, by conservationists who feared raising Butte Lake would end its usefulness as a sportsman's paradise, by the threat of injunctions, prevented "even determination of the general form of development, let alone detailed investigations."

"For these reasons," said

Payment to Nfld.

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government proposes to pay Newfoundland $32,500,000 between now and March 31, 1962, under the province's term of union with Canada, Prime Minister Diefenbaker announced today in the Com-

Unions 'Put in Place' If Smallwood Ever PM

(See Page 16)

TORONTO (CP) — The Telegram in a St. John's, Nfld., dispatch, quotes Premier Smallwood of Newfoundland, as saying he will "stop at nothing" to banish the International Woodworkers of America (IWA).

The newspaper also quotes Mr. Smallwood as saying in an interview:

"If I ever run for prime minister of Canada I will have only one plank. And that will be that labor unions be put in their proper place within the community—that is not to dominate the community and Canada."

The premier said he felt he would lose his office when he intervened in February in the bitter struggle between the striking IWA and the Anglo-

Ike 'Inches Forward' To Summit

By The Associated Press

Britain sees a clear track ahead to the summit, but the United States and France still are saying that preliminary sessions must prove a get-together with Nikita Khrushchev would be worthwhile.

This became apparent today in statements of the three Western chiefs who would confer with Khrushchev.

President Eisenhower spoke out against any efforts at "blackmail," indicating he still feels a preliminary session of big power foreign ministers must make a summit session inviting.

NEED TOP-LEVEL MEET

But he also said at Washington press conference he believes only a meeting with Khrushchev can bring about any sort of valid agreement on the key question of Germany.

To that extent he apparently inched forward from his past insistence that preliminary progress in a foreign ministers meeting is a pre-requisite for a summit session on the German problem.

In London, Prime Minister Macmillan, just back from talks in Ottawa and Washington, indicated the summit meeting will come regardless of the outcome of foreign ministers' negotiations.

"Everybody seems to think that there will be one," Macmillan told the House of Commons.

READY FOR MEETING

At Paris, President de Gaulle said he agrees that preliminary steps must be examined thoroughly at a foreign ministers' meeting, but that he is ready for the summit meeting if conditions are right.

All three Western leaders spoke somewhat warily (so as not to transgress diplomatic protocol). Britain, the United States and France are delivering notes to Moscow Thursday on the subject of East-West meetings, and none of the capitals wanted to anticipate these notes in too much detail.

The notes are believed to call for a foreign ministers' session May 11—a date Khrushchev already has accepted. Presumably the summit meeting will be in July.

College to Purchase Site at Gordon Head

The bottleneck in Victoria College's expansion plans broke wide open today with an announcement that it is purchasing the entire 119-acre Camp Gordon Head site.

Quick approval of the transfer, involving an undisclosed but nominal price, is expected from both federal and provincial cabinets to complete the formal take-over within a matter of weeks.

Twenty-two buildings, ranging from a large drill hall to small huts, go with the property.

The camp property will be in use by summer, providing a playing field, field hut and a gymnasium for the college's expected enrollment of 1,000 students this fall.

The camp, on Finnerly, will bring total land area under the college's control to almost 170 acres providing sufficient campus space for all foreseeable needs.

Announcement of the deal was made by Victoria College Council following year-long negotiations with Defence

BANK INTEREST RATE CLIMBS TO NEW PEAK

OTTAWA (CP) — The Bank of Canada's interest rate climbed this week to a record 4.55 per cent, compared with 4.47 a week ago.

This second consecutive weekly rise, following two consecutive minor declines, places the rate 3.43 per cent above the all-time low of 1.12 last Aug. 2.

TIBET RULER UNREPORTED

Revolt Spreads To Outer Areas

KALIMPONG, Indian-Tibetan Frontier (UPI) — The Chinese Communists have crushed an uprising in the Tibetan capital of Lhasa but fighting is raging more fiercely than ever in other parts of the Himalayan kingdom, it was reported here today.

The Indian government political agent at Gangtok, Sikkim, told a 26-member Tibetan delegation today there had been no fighting in Lhasa for 18 hours and that he regretted he had no information on the whereabouts of the Dalai Lama, Tibet's spiritual and temporal ruler.

Tibetan sources in Gangtok, about 30 miles from the Tibetan border, said the uprising had spread to other areas and that they believed it was more widespread than on March 20 when the uprising reached a peak.

(Nationalist intelligence reports reaching Taipei said a well-armed Communist army of 50,000 men had driven the Tibetan insurgents out of Lhasa but that the fight continued elsewhere in Tibet. Formosa was studying means of aiding the anti-Communist movement.)

Three hundred Tibetan leaders gathered in Kalimpong announced they would stage a protest march on New Delhi in anger against Prime Minister Nehru's refusal to intercede with the Chinese Communist government on behalf of the Tibetans.

'HAPPEN EVERY DAY'

Bribery Attempts All Too Common

TORONTO (CP) — Two members of Metropolitan Toronto council said today that attempts by the public to bribe civic officials were "common practice."

Reeve Marie Curtis of suburban Long Branch and city alderman Philip Givens revealed they both had received offers of money if they used their council offices to "do favors."

Said Ald. Givens: "It happens nearly every day. They come asking for small favors—nothing involving a million dollars—and they indicate that I will be compensated."

Reeve Curtis said she thinks the bribery of elected representatives is not common in

Last year, the government appointed Prof. Carrothers to conduct an inquiry into bargaining rights for civil servants. His report now is in the hands of the Cabinet.

He said the act seems to limit picketing. "A problem is going to arise" in the liability of unions and management organization before the courts because it is not clear whether union pension and trust funds are attachable to satisfy judgment against a union.

Welcomed by Principal, Minister

College principal Dr. Harry Hickman and Public Works Minister W. N. Chant hailed the announcement.

"It is a great satisfaction to know that the property is being acquired at a time when the college is planning to offer third and fourth year courses this September," Dr. Hickman said.

"We're all feeling good this morning with this tremendous news," said Mr. Chant. "It will mean considerable saving to Greater Victoria families when their children can continue their studies and remain at home."

He added that the college "now can plan for the future with the full confidence of having an adequate site to meet the growing needs of future generations."

Judge J. B. Clearhue, chairman of the college council, expressed gratitude to Victoria and Saanich for withdrawing applications to purchase parts of the camp in order to allow the college to obtain the entire site.

He also thanked the Chamber of Commerce and numerous citizens who gave "energetic support" to the college's application for the land.

WHL Referee Punched Him Fan Charges

EDMONTON (CP) — Referee Vern Buffey was charged today with assault causing bodily harm as a result of an incident following Tuesday night's Western Hockey League play-off game here between Edmonton Flyers and Winnipeg Warriors.

City police said the charge was laid by a fan named Terry Saville.

Saville, treated in a dressing room at the Edmonton Gardens for a cut lip, told reporters he was punched by Buffey when he remarked to the referee: "You booted on that one, didn't you, Buffey?"

The incident occurred as the referee was leaving the ice at the end of the game, won 3-2 by Warriors.

U.S. School Children Goodwill Ambassadors

Forty Grade Six children from Eureka, California, today shared desks, books and lessons with their counterparts at Margaret Jenkins School, Victoria.

Students at Washington School, Eureka, the 11 and 12-year-old American youngsters actually raised $55 apiece to finance a three-day stay at the Empress Hotel.

They earned the money by baby-sitting, gardening, helping mother around the house and selling TV guides.

"I have never seen so much enthusiasm," their principal, Miss Elva Quarnheim, said. "They were simply thrilled at the idea of going to Canada and seeing how Canadian children to their schoolwork."

The youngsters travelled to Seattle by bus and then by charter plane to Pat Bay Airport, arriving late Tuesday evening. The trip was arranged by Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau.

They are accompanied by their principal, two Grade Six teachers and a nurse.

Sharp at 9 today they moved into the Grade Six classroom

at Margaret Jenkins School and crowded in beside Victoria youngsters of the same age—two to a desk.

All morning they shared social studies, arithmetic and reading under the instruction of John Jenkins, vice-principal of the school, while their own teachers, Mrs. Donna McGowan and Miss Ann Garner sat at the back of the room.

It was hard to distinguish the young Californians from the young Victorians. All looked bright and vivacious, neatly-dressed and seemingly attentive.

But one of the California

teachers, Mrs. McGowan, noticed a difference.

"The Victoria children are rather more formal than ours," she said. "I notice they stand up when a teacher addresses them, and remain standing while answering questions."

"Our children do not stand up—they just raise their right hand when spoken to and remain seated. But, in general behavior and deportment, I don't think there is much to choose between them."

Mr. Jenkins of Margaret Jenkins said the Canadian and American youngsters seemed to have reached "about the same standard" in arithmetic and reading but the nature of their social studies was somewhat different.

In California Grade Six social studies are mainly concerned with North and South America and Hawaii. They study the United States in Grade Five.

Before coming to Victoria, however, the visiting youngsters received special instruction on Canada and British Columbia.

"They were so excited about the trip we had no difficulty interesting them in this work," Mrs. McGowan said.

One of the visitors, Paul Richardson, aged 12, was born in New Brunswick, Canada, and taken to California when he was five. He is now revisiting Canada for the first time.

Several children remarked that Victoria was not so different from the United States as they expected.

"We like your Canadian flag," said 11-year-old Don Massagli, "and the Parliament Buildings are fine. But Victoria doesn't look so different from an American city."

Janyce Hinkley, 11, remarked that the Empress Hotel is "lovely but very quiet."

"I think the dignified atmosphere of the lounge has a restraining effect on them," said visiting teacher Miss Garner.

VICTORIA, B.C., WEDNESDAY, MARCH 25, 1959 19

MONTE ROBERTS

There was a program on television the other night, a domestic situation comedy in which the wife makes the husband look exceedingly foolish.

In fact, the story line for this particular program was all about how the wife could make the husband do anything the wife wanted him to.

My Own Favorite Wife took a great interest in the program, and kept going "tsk, tsk," and clucking like a hen, and making other disapproving noises.

Even before the program was over, My Favorite Wife began making editorial comments.

"No wife," she said, "connives and plots and plans against her husband."

"Plots and plans, eh?" I said, striving to change the subject, "you may have a column idea there."

"No husband," MFW continued, firmly, "would let his wife push him around that way. Would he?"

"Would he what?" I said, feigning ignorance.

"Husbands are the heads of the house," MFW said. "Husbands make the decision, and it is up to the wife to follow them. Right or wrong. Right?"

"Right," I said, abandoning any attempt to put up an argument.

"Of course I'm right," MFW went on. "Mind you, there may be times when a wife knows a wee bit more about the facts in any given situation, and when this is the case, it is possible she may offer her husband a small amount of guidance."

"It is possible," I agreed.

"MFW looked at me rather sharply, suspecting me. I'm afraid, of sarcasm. But she chose to continue without actively reprimanding me."

"Now, you take me, for instance," she went on. "I am not a bit like the wife in that television program. I never make you do what you want to do, do I?"

"No," I had to admit.

"Yes indeed," MFW summed up. "It is the wise wife who always and invariably lets her husband do exactly what she wants."

And I had to admit she was right.

$7,000 Fellowship For City Musician

Malcolm Hamilton, well-known Victoria pianist and organist, has won a $7,000 music fellowship.

The award was one of only two music fellowships made this year by the United States government.

Mr. Hamilton was unanimously nominated for the honor, without his knowledge, by the faculty of the University of Washington from which he graduated in 1955 as a harpist.

The awards were based on nominations by colleges across the U.S.

The fellowship provides for a three-year course of study at the University of Washington, leading to a degree of Doctor of Philosophy in Musicology.

Mr. Hamilton, at present a French and English teacher at Lansdowne Junior High School and assistant-organist at First United Church, will leave for Seattle in September to begin his post-graduate study.

PLANS TO TEACH

He plans to teach music in one of the American universities when he obtains his doctorate.

Mr. Hamilton is well-known to Victoria and Seattle audiences through his performances on radio, television and the concert stage as a solo pianist and accompanist.

A son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hamilton, 2515 Beach Drive, he was educated at Sir James Douglas School, Victoria High School and Victoria College before obtaining his bachelor of arts degree at the University of Washington.

He also holds three other degrees: Licentiate of the Royal Schools of Music, conferred by the Royal Academy, London, Eng., in 1952; Associate of the Royal Conservatory of Toronto, conferred in 1953; and Associate of the American Guild of Organists, conferred in 1955.

LEARNED MUSIC HERE

He received his early piano training from Marjorie Tebo, Stanley Shale, Mary Wood and Mary Munn in Victoria.

While in Seattle, he studied harpsichord with Irene Bostwick and organ with Walter Eichinger. He was harpist-chordist for the university's Collegium Musicum and assistant organist at St. Mark's Cathedral here.

Returning to Victoria in 1955, he enrolled in the Provincial Normal School and entered the teaching profession.

Faithful to Carry Cross to Victoria

A walking pilgrimage, in which a replica of the Cross will be carried by groups of three pilgrims at a time, will start from Nanaimo Thursday evening and arrive at St. Andrew's Cathedral in Victoria on Easter Sunday at 11 a.m.

The pilgrimage, called Pacific Cross, will be made under sponsorship of the Newman and Newman Alumni Clubs of Victoria, and with the support of the Catholic Youth Organization of Greater Victoria.

30 Registered

At least 30 persons are prepared to take part, and others may join at the last minute.

It will begin after the evening Mass commemorating the Last Supper and the institution of the Holy Eucharist, set for 8:30 p.m. Thursday at Nanaimo.

After the replica of the Cross, nine feet long and six feet wide, has been blessed, the pilgrims will walk to Ladysmith, staying there, for the night.

Friday morning they will walk to Duncan, hoping to arrive in time for the Mass of the Presanctified at St. Edmund's Church.

Start at Dawn

Leaving Duncan at first light Saturday, the party will cross the Malahat, then stop at the Church of Our Lady of the Holy Rosary at Langford for special services. They will leave Langford at dawn in order to reach the cathedral by 11 a.m.

The Cross will be carried horizontally by three persons, at a time for 10 minutes, after which three others will take over. There will be a 10-minute pause each hour, and a longer pause after four hours for rest and a meal.

Before starting off again a short meditation will be given on one of the incidents of the Lord's journey to his crucifixion.

First in 1948

Pacific Cross is modelled after the Student Cross pilgrimage in England, now progressing from London to Norfolk, and first made in 1948.

Some pilgrims will walk all the way, while others will join for shorter periods. They will wear dress for walking in the prevailing weather conditions, and should bring eat ing and sleeping gear and made not only with the mind and the heart, but also with the body," a sponsoring official said. It is hoped to make it an annual event.

Offers of assistance and donations toward the pilgrimage may be left at 858

Hotham Street, Esquimalt.

Heavy Cutback In Buses Likely

Night and holiday bus schedules may be cut back between 20 and 30 per cent by B.C. Electric.

A company spokesman here said today the schedules are under review and the company probably will apply to the Greater Victoria municipalities within a month to effect curtailments in frequency of service.

He said the application would be similar to one made in Vancouver last month, where reductions of 20 to 30 per cent in night and holiday runs were involved.

If the municipalities do not agree to the changes, a Public Utilities Commission ruling will be sought. If there is agreement, the PUC still must approve the cutback.

This was the latest development in the furor following strong hints Tuesday by BCE president A. E. Grauer that the company plans to take steps to reduce its transportation service losses in Victoria.

deficit. Fares were increased to a basic 13 cents here and 15 cents in Vancouver during 1958.

Dr. H. L. Purdy, BCE executive vice-president, quashed immediate speculation that fare increases would be sought here to equalize the rates.

"We have no plans for a fare increase in Victoria," he said in Vancouver Tuesday night.

Meanwhile, civic leaders here and in Vancouver closed ranks in a solid opposition to a further hint by Mr. Grauer that the company may seek to eliminate a tax it pays municipalities for its franchises.

Overall payments on the franchises by the entire BCE transit system last year was $648,353, of which $25,432 went to Victoria.

Municipal heads maintained that the franchise tax was only fair compensation for use of municipal roads by the buses.

PRICE OF MONOPOLY

"They have a monopoly; that's the price they pay for it," retorted Esquimalt Reeve A. C. Wurtele. "What we want to know is why the B.C. Electric bus system is running in the red."

Mayor Percy Scutrah said the franchise tax is "only peanuts" compared with the BCE transit deficit. "It's such a small amount... it wouldn't really alleviate the situation, would it?"

He said elimination of the tax would be another form of subsidy to the company.

FEDER LINES URGED

Both Mayor Scutrah and Reeve Wurtele argued BCE had not tried all venues of economy. They suggested that small foreign buses or station wagons should be used to provide feeder service to main routes, increasing frequency of service and attracting more traffic as well as cutting costs.

Oak Bay Reeve George Murdoch also supported the feeder suggestion and strongly opposed elimination of the franchise tax or increase in fares.

"I think someone could take over that bus service and make it pay," he added. "If they don't want to co-operate, then let them turn the business over to someone else."

Saanich Reeve George Chatterton said the municipalities would suffer if BCE dropped its transit service but he said an outside traffic expert should be brought in to make a thorough investigation before any changes in the service are made.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Lieut.-Governor Frank Ross, on the advice of his doctors, will restrict his public activities for "a short time," an announcement from Government House said today.

The announcement said Mr. Ross is suffering from a recurrence of trouble in his right leg which has bothered him since he served in the First World War.

"He must restrict his activities for a short time, particularly where any standing is involved."

View Royal Garden Club will meet tonight at 8 in the View Royal Community Hall.

A meeting of the Kipling Society will be held tonight at 8 at 317 Cook Street.

A woodchopping accident nearly cost a Saanich man several toes when an axe cut completely through his foot Tuesday afternoon.

Robert Coley Donahue, 30, of 4985 West Saanich, is in good condition at Jubilee Hospital today after an emergency operation.

The Capital Region Planning Board's master plan was approved in principle by public works committee Tuesday but a rider was attached requesting city council to obtain changes in the administration which would allow the city to alter the plan without consent of two-thirds of the member municipalities.

Rejection of an Esquimalt request for establishment of a sub-office in that municipality to collect water payments was recommended by city public works committee Tuesday. Esquimalt residents pay their bills at City Hall at present.

City public works committee Tuesday ordered a study made on feasibility of amending the Traffic Bylaw to permit cars to make left turns in mid-block.

Gerald Clark, London and European correspondent for the Montreal Star, and contributor to Weekend Magazine, who was to have spoken to Victoria Rotary Club Thursday, has been called back to Montreal due to a death in the family and will be unable to fulfill his speaking engagement.

The Esquimalt-based Frigate New Waterford is due to rendezvous with the watership Stonetown, 900 miles out in the Pacific at 6 a.m. Thursday.

A scientist suffering from chronic seasickness will be transferred from the weather-ship and brought to hospital here.

New Waterford is expected at home port late Saturday or early Sunday.

Condition of a 17-year-old Victoria girl hurt in an auto wreck on the Malahat Sunday night is reported to be "poor" by St. Joseph's Hospital today.

Linda Henley, 1722 Bay, has been unconscious since the crash which injured each of six teen-agers riding in a car that went out of control, hit a rock bluff and overturned.

Return Trip From Holiday Big Problem

It appears to be easier to leave Vancouver Island for Easter than to return.

This is because people are planning to leave Thursday, Friday, or even Saturday—but everyone seems to want to come back on Monday.

CPR today reported exceptionally heavy reservations for cars on the Vancouver-Nanaimo service Monday.

"Late Monday ferries from Vancouver are pretty well booked up," he said. "Reservations can be had on earlier ferries."

Traffic off the island also will be heavy, and the CPR advises early reservations for cars.

Black Ball Ferries, operating from Departure Bay to Horseshoe Bay, does not make reservations and operates on a "first come, first served" basis. Officials anticipate heavy business, especially on Monday.

Trans-Canada Air Lines likely will carry the lion's share of foot passengers. Over the five-day weekend, TCA anticipates carrying close to 7,000 passengers on 236 flights between Victoria and Vancouver.

Busiest period is expected to be Thursday, when 66 flights will be operated, 40 more than the regularly scheduled 26 daily flights.

Library to Close

Victoria Public Library will be closed Good Friday and Easter Monday. It will be open Saturday from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

DEDICATION SET APRIL 5

'Sloan Tree' to Honor Memory Of Late Jurist, Forest Arbiter

A spreading old Garry oak 50 yards south of the entrance to Victoria Golf Club will be dedicated April 5 as 'The Sloan Tree,' in memory of the late Hon. Gordon McG. Sloan.

Announcement was made today by officers of the Victoria Times which, with the consent of Mrs. Sloan and the Oak Bay council, has arranged for unveiling of a plaque with the inscription:

"In memory of the late Hon. Gordon McG. Sloan—jurist, forester, servant of the people of British Columbia."

The tree—one which survived the recent road-widening project of the CIDC—was chosen because of its proximity to the late Mr. Sloan's home, and his close connection with trees during his lifetime.

At the 4 p.m., April-5 ceremony, Times publisher Stuart Keate will welcome guests, after which Reeve George Murdoch of Oak Bay will unveil the plaque and Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston will pay the memorial tribute.

He was commenting on a complaint by Victoria's publicity chief, who said Tuesday that the CTA's magazine, Canadian Tourism, had shifted the Empress to Vancouver.

George Warren was referring to an item in the magazine which listed the Hotel Association of Canada meeting place as the Empress Hotel, Vancouver.

"It was a typographical error," Mr. Fisher said. He said the hotel association would be unlikely to meet in Vancouver because "they make better tea and crumpets in Victoria."

To Summit

By The Associated Press

Britain sees a clear track ahead to the summit, but the United States and France still are saying that preliminary sessions must prove a get-together with Nikita Khrushchev would be worthwhile.

This became apparent today in statements of the three Western chiefs who would confer with Khrushchev.

President Eisenhower spoke out against any efforts at "blackmail," indicating he still feels a preliminary session of big power foreign ministers must make a summit session inviting.

NEED TOP-LEVEL MEET

But he also said at Washington press conference he believes only a meeting with Khrushchev can bring about any sort of valid agreement on the key question of Germany.

To that extent he apparently inched forward from his past insistence that preliminary progress in a foreign ministers meeting is a pre-requisite for a summit session on the German problem.

In London, Prime Minister Macmillan, just back from talks in Ottawa and Washington, indicated the summit meeting will come regardless of the outcome of foreign ministers' negotiations.

"Everybody seems to think that there will be one," Macmillan told the House of Commons.

READY FOR MEETING

At Paris, President de Gaulle said he agrees that preliminary steps must be examined thoroughly at a forum.

EDMONTON (CP) — Referee Vern Buffey was charged today with assault causing bodily harm as a result of an incident following Tuesday night's Western Hockey League play-off game here between Edmonton Flyers and Winnipeg Warriors.

City police said the charge was laid by a fan named Terry Saville.

Saville, treated in a dressing room at the Edmonton Gardens for a cut lip, told reporters he was punched by Buffey when he remarked to the referee: "You boomed on that one, didn't you, Buffey?"

The incident occurred as the referee was leaving the ice at the end of the game, won 3-2 by Warriors.

BOATS ARE BUSTING OUT ALL OVER

Spring is here, and what better proof than this sight which greeted residents of Quincy, Ill., where Stewart Thomas hired a crane to remove "do-it-yourself" boat from his attic. Anxious to get his 18-foot craft into the water, Thomas first had to remove a window and portions of a wall.

'Hurry-Up' on Project
Boosted Power Costs

By HAL MALONE

Lack of lead time—the period available between inception of a project and construction—was the main reason the B.C. Power Commission's mammoth Strathcona project cost $16,000,000 more than first estimates of $19,000,000.

Even at a final cost of $35,000,000 the end results clearly vindicate the original decision to proceed. Cost of energy produced by the Campbell River system — Strathcona, John Hart and Ladore Falls — will be 3.8 mills per kilowatt hour in an average water year.

No substitute development could be considered. Any errors of judgment by the power commission did not contribute to the over-expenditure.

The same funds would have been needed, regardless of what estimated figures had been put forward.

These were the main points of a brief on the Strathcona project, presented to the Shrum Royal Commission today by R. C. McMordie, acting chief engineer for the power commission.

In an 88-page brief, plus appendices, Mr. McMordie explained in minute detail reasons for the over-expenditure. Strathcona is the largest of 20 projects where power commission estimates were exceeded. It is the main project the Shrum Royal Commission, set up by Premier Bennett, is investigating.

Throughout his submission, Mr. McMordie stressed "lead time" was the basic source of cost discrepancies at Strathcona.

Repeatedly he claimed the Commission on the new legislation

Expansion Plan
On 119-Acre Site
Gets Green Light

The bottleneck in Victoria College's expansion plans broke wide open today with an announcement that it is purchasing the entire 119-acre Camp Gordon Head site.

Quick approval of the transfer, involving an undisclosed but nominal price, is expected from both federal and provincial cabinets to complete the formal take-over within a matter of weeks.

Twenty-two buildings, ranging from a large drill hall to small huts, go with the property.

The camp property will be in use by summer, providing a playing field, field hut and a gymnasium for the college's expected enrollment of 1,000 students this fall.

The camp, on Finerty, will bring total land area under the college's control to almost 170 acres providing sufficient campus space for all foreseeable needs.

Announcement of the deal was made by Victoria College Council following year-long negotiations with Defence Minister G. R. Pearkes, MP for Saanich-Esquamalt.

Mr. Pearkes has declared the campus as war surplus and recommended to the federal cabinet that it be sold to the college.

An immediate request to the provincial government for consent to the transfer, required under legislation governing Victoria College, was made by the college council.

When the deal is completed, the provincial government will hold title to the property, as it does for the present 30-acre campus. The college council will administer the property.

College principal Dr. Harry Hickman and Public Works Minister W. N. Chant hailed the announcement.

"It is a great satisfaction to know that the property is being acquired at a time when the college is planning to offer third and fourth-year courses this September," Dr. Hickman said.

"We're all feeling good this morning with this tremendous news," said Mr. Chant. "It will mean considerable saving to Greater Victoria families when their children can continue their studies and remain at home."

He added that the college "now can plan for the future with the full confidence of having an adequate site to meet the growing needs of future generations."

Judge J. B. Clearhue, chairman of the college council, expressed gratitude to Victoria and Saanich for withdrawing applications to purchase parts of the camp in order to allow the college to obtain the entire site.

He also thanked the Chamber of Commerce and numerous citizens who gave "energetic support" to the college's application for the land.

The purchase will not mean a move from the present campus, college officials explained. The land will be used for future developments.

The purchase price will be paid by the college from present funds. It will not affect the public campaign for building funds planned for 1960 when the college hopes to raise $1,500,000.

The subscription will be matched dollar for dollar by the provincial government and some $300,000 in Canada Council grants will be added.

Money will be used to erect a new library building, science building, heating plant and instructional gymnasium for

CARROTHERS SAYS

New Labor Laws
'Up to Courts'

VANCOUVER (CP) — Professor A. W. R. Carrothers of the University of British Columbia law faculty said Tuesday night the provincial government's new Trade Union Act "leaves a great deal up to the courts" and contains some cumbersome and vague language and terms.

Prof. Carrothers made the remarks during a meeting called to stage a panel discussion on the new legislation.

Prof. Carrothers was a judge in the discussion, sponsored by the Vancouver Centre Liberal Association and attended by 500.

(Last year, the government passed during the recent session of the legislature to forbid sympathy picketing and publishing of no-patronage lists and to make unions and employer organizations liable to suit.

'Race Against Time' for Buried Couple

BRALORNE, B.C. (CP) — A desperate battle against time is being fought here today in an effort to save the lives of a man and wife buried in a giant avalanche 200 yards long and 50 feet wide.

Believed trapped under the massive snow avalanche in McGillivray Pass, 15 miles southeast of Bralorne and 110 miles north of Vancouver, are immigrants Helmut Weinhold, 31, and his wife Crista, 26.

They were reported first as German immigrants but police said today they came from the alpine country in Austria. Their hometown in Europe was not immediately available.

Their tracks were found leading into the avalanche Tuesday afternoon.

RCMP officials here said it is possible the couple may be alive. They said trapped persons have survived eight days in an avalanche.

The couple may be lying huddled in an air pocket unable to move because of hundreds of tons of snow pressing on them from above.

"Conditions at the site of the avalanche are very poor," an RCMP officer said. "We are racing against time to get equipment and supplies to the rescue parties."

"During the day it is thawing at the 6,900-

foot level where the avalanche occurred," the officer said. "The heat makes the danger of further slides too great. We cannot risk losing lives."

Searchers are able to travel about 11 miles by wide-tired jeep to the scene and then must cover the remaining four miles on skis or snowshoes.

Weinhold, a miner in the Pioneer mine, and his wife, a nurse in Bralorne hospital, owned a cabin in the area and left it to inspect the snow conditions in the pass.

When they didn't return to the cabin by 3 p.m. a friend there decided to search for them.

The friend, identified only as Hugo, entered the pass and saw the avalanche but no trace of the tracks leaving it.

He skied back to the cabin and advised Bralorne RCMP who immediately launched a search.

Police said the Weinholds were warned of the snow condition and were advised to get off their skis. It is believed they were on foot when the avalanche hit them.

The couple are experienced skiers.

Power Board Boosts Wages

Last Tribute Paid Former Duncan Mayor

DUNCAN—Funeral services were held here today for George Henry Savage, 71, former mayor of the city who died in King's Daughters' Hospital Sunday.

Born in England, he had lived in Duncan 52 years, working first as a carpenter and later as a bricklayer at Cowichan Junction.

He was a school trustee, alderman for several terms, and mayor from 1913 to 1916. He also was a past president of Duncan Rotary Club; past master of Temple Lodge A.F. & A.M.; past grand chancellor of the Grand Lodge of B.C. Knights of Pythias; and past chancellor of Maple Lodge 15, K. of P. of Duncan.

Surviving are the widow, Lillian; one son, Warren, in Duncan; a daughter, Mrs. J. D. Smith, Oak Ridge, Ont.; two brothers, Edwin and James, Los Angeles; and two sisters, Mrs. James Duncan and Mrs. Fred Wise, Vancouver.

BUDGET APRIL 9

OTTAWA (CP)

Finance Minister Fleming today announced he will present his 1959-60 budget Thursday evening, April 9.

'HAPPEN EVERY DAY'

Bribery Attempts All Too Common

TORONTO (CP)—Two members of Metropolitan Toronto council said today that attempts by the public to bribe civic officials were "common practice."

Reeve Marie Curtis of suburban Long Branch and city alderman Philip Givens revealed they both had received offers of money if they used their council offices to "do favors."

Said Ald. Givens: "It happens nearly every day. They come asking for small favors—nothing involving a million dollars—and they indicate that I will be compensated."

Reeve Curtis said she thinks the bribery of elected representatives is not common in smaller communities. "I think it's the trend in larger cities," she said. "People come right to my house offering money to get away with it elsewhere."

"They think all politicians can be bought," Both Reeve Curtis and Ald. Givens said they refused all offers made to them.

Unions 'Put in Place' If Smallwood Ever PM

TORONTO (CP)—The Telegram in a St. John's, Nfld., dispatch, quotes Premier Smallwood of Newfoundland as saying he will "stop at nothing" to banish the International Woodworkers of America (IWA).

The newspaper also quotes Mr. Smallwood as saying in an interview:

"If I ever run for prime minister of Canada I will have only one plank. And that will be that labor-unions be put in their proper place within the community—that is not to dominate the community and Canada."

The premier said he felt he would lose his office when he intervened in February in the bitter struggle between the striking IWA and the Anglo-Newfoundland Development Company.

He said he was convinced that his speech in the legislature condemning the IWA would send him "out into the wilderness" but he "received a pleasant shock." He is also quoted as saying: "We will maintain law and order that will destroy the IWA. The IWA has only one thing—violence and gangsterism."

CASE REVIVED

Back in news today is Professor Harry Crowe, who now has resigned from Winnipeg's United College in protest over the college's refusal to reinstate three other professors who resigned last fall during "purloined letter" furore.

CARROTHERS

appointed Prof. Carrothers to conduct an inquiry into bargaining rights for civil servants. His report now is in the hands of the Cabinet.

He said the act seems to limit picketing. "A problem is going to arise" in the liability of unions and management organization before the courts because it is not clear whether union pension and trust funds are attachable to satisfy judgment against a union.

George A. Wilkinson, vice-president of Marwell Construction Company, said the new law "is a credit to the government."

Jack Moore, assistant to the president of the International Woodworkers of America (IWA) District 1, said the law is "designed solely to make unions ineffective."

Jim Bury, executive secretary of the B.C. Federation of Labor, said its purpose is "to limit and level out living standards of the people."

R. A. Mahoney, industrial relations consultant, said the act recognizes that "much employment has been kept out of B.C. because of the iniquitous relationship between unions and management."

sign ministers' meeting, but that he is ready for the summit meeting if conditions are right.

All three Western leaders spoke somewhat warily so as not to transgress diplomatic protocol. Britain, the United States and France are delivering notes to Moscow Thursday on the subject of East-West meetings, and none of the capitals wanted to anticipate these notes in too much detail.

The notes are believed to call for a foreign ministers' session May 11—a date Krushchev already has accepted. Presumably the summit meeting will be in July.

NANAIMO—A brief asking "a better deal" for elderly drivers will be discussed by George Lindsay, motor vehicle branch superintendent, at a meeting of Vancouver Island Ratepayers' Association at the Canadian Legion Hall here April 9 at 1.30 p.m.

The brief was prepared by W. C. Hamilton of Port Alberni in protest against what the VIRA considers is unfair treatment of drivers of 70 years and older.

EVEN STRANGERS RALLY

Widowed Mother Of Twins Aided

By SUSIE McC. BIRD
Times Tofino Correspondent

TOFINO—Friends she has never heard of have rallied to the assistance of Mrs. Myrtle Jacobsen, 19, who gave birth earlier this month to the first twins ever born in Tofino General Hospital.

The young mother is the widow of David Jacobsen, missing and given up for dead since Dec. 6 last year, when the troller Centennial sank on the way to Ahousat from here.

It is believed the vessel struck a rock in Calmus Pass at the foot of the Catface Range and sank. Only trace ever found was a bit of wreckage believed from the missing troller. There were three other men aboard with Jacobsen.

When two babies arrived instead of one, her friends helped immediately, but the most unexpected gift came from the Hudson's Bay Company in Vancouver.

Mrs. Margaret Mosher, head cook at the hospital, sent to the "Bay" for blankets and diapers. With her order she sent a request for soiled or shopworn baby garments, explaining the circumstances of her request.

Back came not only a big parcel, but a cheque for $225, which Mrs. Mosher forwarded to Mrs. Jacobsen, now resident at Ahousat.

Clayoquot Sound Branch 65, Canadian Legion, and its ladies' auxiliary, are sending merchandise scrip to Mrs. Jacobsen which will allow her to buy baby food at any grocery store in Tofino.

Gold Washed At Leechtown Shows Profit

LEECHTOWN—B. Filgate of Cobble Hill and two companions have started mining for gold here, and have reported washing four ounces in half an hour.

They are working at the old Leechtown mine, where they have staked claims and are building flumes.

Gold was first discovered on the Leech River in July, 1864, and in a few months workings produced $200,000. However, high water in the river made work impossible during the winter, and by the following spring most of the miners had left for a mainland strike.

Victoria Daily Times Silhouette Contest

No. 16

Silhouette Contest Rules

1. The Silhouette Contest is simple and easy to work. It consists of 50 silhouette drawings of widely known persons and 120 pictures. All you have to do is identify the silhouettes, not by name but by pairing them with pictures of the people you think are portrayed in the silhouettes. Each person shown in silhouette will be shown by picture but not necessarily on the same day. In addition there will be 40 pictures of other persons who will not be shown in silhouette drawings. Thus you will have 120 pictures from which to make your 50 selections to go with the 50 silhouettes. Keep the 50 left over pictures. They will be needed for the final Silhouette Scramble.

2. The contest starts on Saturday, March 7, 1959. Each day for 60 days one silhouette and two pictures will be printed. After you have paired a silhouette with a picture, paste or in some way fasten the matching pair on a single sheet of paper. All 40 sheets are to be fastened together in order and each sheet should bear your name.

3. The Times will award $750 in cash prizes to the winners. There are no entry fees. The prizes are:

1. $500
2. $100
3. $50
and four prizes of $25 each.

4. The contest is open to all residents of Vancouver Island with the exception of employees of the Times and Victoria Press Ltd. and members of their families. Not more than one prize will be awarded in any one immediate family.

5. The final silhouette and pictures will appear on Saturday, May 16, and with this set will appear a master score sheet on which you must enter the numbers of your silhouette-picture combinations. Do not send in your entries until all silhouettes and pictures have been published.

6. The contestant getting the greatest number of the 50 regular silhouettes correctly solved is automatically the winner of the first prize. Second highest score gets second prize, and so on.

6. The final silhouette and pictures will appear on Saturday, May 16, and with this set will appear a master score sheet on which you must enter the numbers of your silhouette-picture combinations. Do not send in your entries until all silhouettes and pictures have been published.

7. A Silhouette Scramble will be published with Silhouette No. 60. This will consist of 2 number of silhouettes which are to be identified from the 40 pictures left over from the 60 pictures left over from the regular contest. This Silhouette Scramble will be used by the judges ONLY in case of tie. If ties exist in the regular contest, then those contestants making the best scores in the Silhouette Scramble will be declared winners.

8. Address entries to Silhouette Contest, Victoria Daily Times, 2621 Douglas Street, Victoria. All entries must be postmarked not later than Monday, May 25. Entries must be sent with first class postage fully paid, since The Times cannot be responsible for entries delayed because of improper address or insufficient postage, or for any other reason not received at The Times in due time.

9. By entering the contest, the participant agrees to accept the decision of the judges as final.

MAYOR L. JORDON ... changes mind

Port Alberni Mill Rate Up 'Killing Duck'

PORT ALBERNI—Mayor Loran Jordon admitted to Port Alberni city council this week that he is a "dead duck."

Several weeks ago he announced the mill rate would be raised from its 1958 level of 34 mills "over my dead body."

He changed his mind when council accepted an auditor's report showing a deficit of $43,970 for 1958.

"I don't see how we can pick up last year's tab, meet rising costs of wages and materials, and maintain the same mill rate," he said. "And I'm a dead duck."

His dismay was tempered with pleasure at the fact that the meeting was the last to be held in the old city hall at Fifth and Argyle. Meeting next week will be in the new city hall, one block down Argyle Avenue.

Building Shown To Make Life On Moon Safe

NEW YORK (UPI)—A scale model of a "moon building" in which man could live out of this world has been unveiled here by a Chicago engineering firm.

The lunar housing project is a cigar-shaped corrugated metal cylinder topped by an umbrella to keep off the rain of meteoric dust.

The building is designed to float on the several miles of dust which may cover the surface of the moon. It can be anchored if the moon proves solid.

The model was designed and engineered by the Wonder Building Corp. of America, Chicago, under the technical direction of Dr. John S. Rinehart of the Colorado School of Mines and former associate director of the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory, Cambridge, Mass.

Rinehart said he believed man could put such a building on the moon in 10 years. It would have to be taken there in sections by cargo rocket ships.

The moon building would be 340 feet long, 150 feet wide and 65 feet high. It would be anchored in the dust by heavy weights suspended by cables.

Space inside would be divided into: living quarters; physics, chemistry and biological laboratories; a control tower for communication, meteorological studies, earth observations, astronomical observations and traffic control, air conditioning, heating, power and refrigeration plants.

Oxygen producing units, extreme temperature regulating devices, water supply and sewage processing plants, and machine shop and equipment maintenance areas.

The building was designed to withstand temperatures ranging from 214 degrees Fahrenheit at lunar midday to a midnight reading of 243 degrees below zero.

Ramps and stairs were built at a much steeper angle than in earth buildings because the reduction in gravity on the moon would permit man to lift himself with one-sixth the effort required on earth.

There would be no windows because ultraviolet radiation would discolor them.

Rinehart said a number of other designs were possible for a moon building.

"The Buck Rogers portable and inflatable plastic balloon house is a perfectly practical type of temporary housing," he said.
